St. Albert & Sturgeon

VOL. 18 NO. 30 -- WEDNESDAY, JULY 27, 1977.

City's 5500 acre annexation is a long process

St. Albert Mayor Dick Plain told the Gazette Monday that if the Local Authorities Board decides St. Albert should annex 5500 acres of land to its south and east, "it could not happen before January 1, 1978."

The LAB's order would also have to go before the Provincial cabinet, the mayor said, within the same time frame. By the time the annexation passed through cabinet, final authorization for the annexation would not come till even later than the turn of the year, the mayor hinted.

While the mayor has pointed out that the MD of Sturgeon is opposed to St. Albert getting any of the lands it needs for annexation he says St. Albert has got something out of the recent LAB hearings.

He says he hopes St. Albert has provided (the LAB) with St. Albert's justification regarding the need for more light industrial land, as well as providing for the city's recreational needs along Big Lake and the Sturgeon Valley. Part of the annexation would take in lands of the Green Belt or Restricted Development Area (RDA).

BACM's annexation for 1900 acres to the northwest of St. Albert has been adjourned till the fall by the LAB.

When that proposal comes up again at the LAB, St. Albert is expected to oppose it on the grounds that BACM have not made sufficient provision for handling the extra traffic resulting from that annexation.

Public hearing is likely on "Shell" property

The St. Albert Forest Lawn and District Community Association can expect a public hearing early in September on the rezoning of some lands which are known as the Shell property.

The five acres of land have been in and out of the news ever since last December when the Daon Development Corporation told council of their intent to locate a major food store on the land bounded by Sir Winston Churchill Avenue, Fairview Boulevard and the V.J. Maloney school.

That development never got off the ground since the lands in question have still to be finally classified.

Mayor Dick Plain told the Gazette Monday afternoon a motion will be in front of council August 2 to have a public hearing on the rezoning of four acres to R-1 (single family) and one acre C-2, commercial.

The public hearing will come up about a month after the first council meeting in August, the mayor suggested.

The Forest Lawn District and Community Association is adamant that it be allowed the vehicle of a public hearing to get something finalized on the site.

A letter to St. Albert council states that during a meeting held with Shell representatives July 21, nothing concrete about the future plans for the site was presented.

Highway 16 plans presented

A presentation of plans for the Highway 16/Yellowhead Corridor through Edmonton was made to area jurisdictions Tuesday, at Edmonton city hall.

The presentation was made at the suggestion of Dr. Hugh M. Horner, deputy premier and minister of transportation. It follows the execution of an agreement for provincial cost-sharing of the project.

Among those attending were representatives from Bon Accord, Gibbons, Legal, Morinville, Spruce Grove, Stony Plain, St. Albert, the County of Parkland, the Municipal District of Sturgeon and the Edmonton Regional Planning Commission.

Farmers awarded damages

Three farmers in the MD of Sturgeon were recently awarded $32,946 damages in an out of court settlement following construction of St. Albert's sewage outfall line in 1973-74.

According to terms of the settlement, the farmers have no further claims outstanding, absolving everyone from all further responsibility.

Those involved in the out of court settlement were Sturgeon farmers Neil Duggan, Albert Ebbers and David Fokema, the City of St. Albert and the contractor.

The farmers awarded the damages had complained of crop losses, flooding, soil mixing, pushed up dikes and trespass owing to the construction of the sewage outfall line to the North Saskatchewan River.

Following settlement Mr.

Downtown core is not as dormant as it looks

Although St. Albert's $30 million downtown core has lain dormant for the past year local businessmen are showing strong interest in locating in the core.

Last year the St. Anne Street extension was put through, but so far there has been no development of the downtown core.

There are plans for a court house and a civic centre, and the whole development is expected to coincide with the major regional shopping centre from Abacus Cities slated for the east side of the St. Albert Trail. This is slated for the 61 acre triangle of land bounded by Bellerose Drive, the St. Albert Trail, and the Sturgeon River.

"We have had a definite interest shown for a portion of the commercial area by a group of St. Albert businessmen," Mayor Dick Plain told the Gazette this week.

The mayor was not able to disclose the names of the businessmen or make any further announcement on that part of the negotiations.

With the interest shown in the core, the mayor says that St. Albert will have to insure there is a well defined plan in the downtown area development.

Mayor Plain also said that the plan will probably need more refinement because of the numbers of people who will locate.

Once these negotiations are worked out the mayor says downtown core business should be appearing at the Municipal Planning Commission, then at council.

Progress reported on $50 million shopping centre

Although he could give no specific details, Mayor of St. Albert Dick Plain said that clientele is being lined up for St. Albert's $50 million major regional shopping centre, first stage of which could be completed next year.

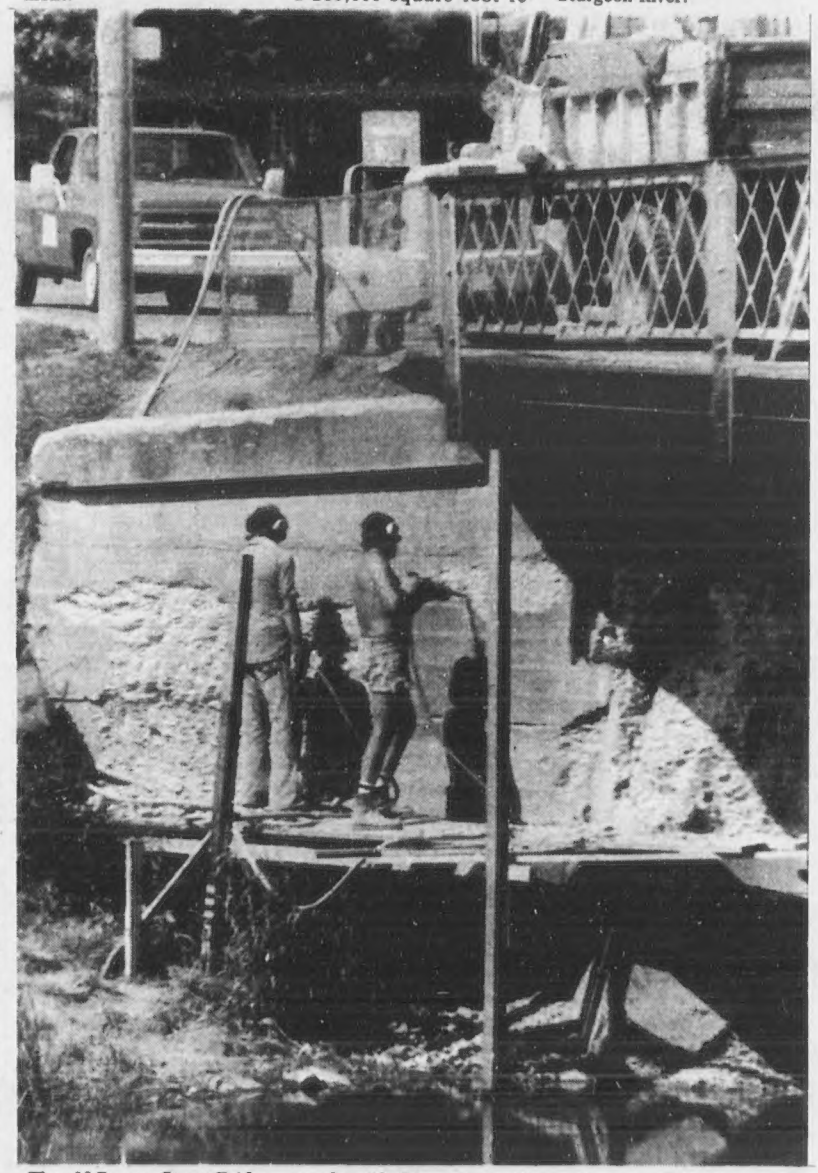

St. Albert signed a development agreement with the firm Abacus Cities Ltd. last April for the shopping centre, and Mayor Plain says land stripping for the centre could begin next month or September.

Work can then begin on the 61 acre site which lies between the Sturgeon River, Bellerose Drive and the St. Albert Trail. First stage of the development is looking at a 280,000 square foot regional shopping centre which will also include an 83,000 square foot Hudson Bay outlet and a 35,000 square foot food store.

When the work is finally completed St. Albert will be looking at a regional shopping centre facility on a par with the facilities at Edmonton's Northgate.

Subdivision procedures will soon be coming up at St. Albert's Municipal Planning Commission, according to Mayor Plain.

Abacus Cities, who signed a joint agreement between themselves and the Bay also have plans for a 280 unit residential on the south side of the centre overlooking the Sturgeon River.

The old Perron Street Bridge got a face lift this week as city employees were hard at work re-cementing its base. Local youngsters have taken advantage of the work in the past few days, using the scaffolding as a platform for fishing.

damages

Duggan was awarded $18,000 with $2,500 contributed by St. Albert, $5,200 went to Mr. Ebbers, with $1,749 from St. Albert and $9,746 went to Mr. Fokema, with $3,400 coming from St. Albert.

Seventy-five percent damage costs were paid out to the plaintives by the contractor.

tized" to the needs of the community, they merely addressed return on investment, high density and other issues peripheral to the community. They did not address or present any text outlining the community or social impact relating to such basic problems as traffic generation and flow, impact on schools and quality of life."

The Association is complaining that Shell Oil has had ample time to form a plan for the land in question and there is resentment that "land use within the boundaries of St. Albert be determined by executives of a multi-national firm based in Toronto."

The Association feels the fundamental decisions must be made by St. Albert's residents and their elected representatives.

And they badly want the public hearing.

The presentation was arranged by the City of Edmonton and the Urban Transportation branch of Alberta Transportation, which is headed by Leo L. LeClerc, assistant deputy minister.

The cost of Highway 16/Yellowhead Corridor is being shared under Alberta Urban Transportation Assistance Program E - "Policy for Major Continuous Corridors Through Cities," on a 90 percent Provincial and 10 percent City basis.

Canada is between devil and deep blue sea

Canada is caught squarely between the devil of separation and the deep blue sea of economic disaster. There is no blinking the fact that our country is in a bad way. The future, as of now, looks no brighter. Unemployment in this nation of 24 million souls stands at close to one million, approximately the same figure as for Japan with her population of 112 million. Inflation still erodes the purchasing power of our dollar, the Yo-Yo currency of the international market.

"The Canadian dollar has earned the reputation of being the most erratic major currency on the board," R. G. Gibbens wrote recently in the Montreal Star. It is noteworthy that he, like many other observers, believes it was an abrupt change in monetary and interest-rate policy, not the threat of secession implicit in the PQ election victory, which was "at the heart of the drop."

Despite a swing back to surplus in our merchandise trade, we still carry a huge current account deficit. Foreign borrowing of around $8 billion last year put us at the top of the list in that category and forecast borrowing abroad this year of around $6 billion should help to ensure that we maintain that unenviable position. At home, consumer enthusiasm is restrained.

Business investment, in all but a few specialized categories such as petro-chemicals, is, to put it mildly, cautious. Canadian secondary industry is on the defensive as witnessed by the number of pleas for tariff and quota protection and the stream of complaints scheduled for hearing before the Anti-Dumping Tribunal. The general malaise afflicting secondary industry in this country was explained recently by Mr. Leonard Annett, director of Corporate Planning for Electrohome Ltd., speaking at the Seventh Annual Conference on Business Forecasting at McMaster University.

Mr. Annett blamed the declining profitability of his company in recent years on an inability to compete with foreign manufacturers on a cost basis. "The whole Canadian cost structure is too high for secondary manufacturers to be competitive in export markets," he said. Canada imports $450 more per capita of finished goods than she exports. This he saw as a direct threat to the jobs of the 20% of Canadian workers engaged in secondary manufacturing.

Such a situation would inevitably lead to a decline in manufacturing in Canada and, probably, to the gradual withdrawal of manufacturing plants to the U.S., a trend unfortunately already apparent. Main factors in the unfavourable cost structure were, he felt, taxation and the high cost of labour. Taxation to support social measures - "we have gone too far, too fast" -- put a heavy financial burden on industry. In 1976, government spending at all levels amounted to 41.5% of GNP. The accelerating cost of the labour component added to the burden.

In other times and in other countries, such a situation has cried out for decisive action, a concerted national effort. The magnitude of today's challenge makes it imperative for Canadians to close ranks to meet a common danger. Beyond a shadow of doubt, the people of this country are deeply concerned about both our economic and constitutional problems. But the mood of the country is apathetic. It is as if the Quebec crisis has mesmerized the whole country.

We appear like chickens frozen before the snake of separation. The gravity of the threat to the nation presented by the possibility of secession of the Province of Quebec should not be underestimated nor understated. But it should not be allowed to paralyze the national will completely. Life, with or without Quebec, must go on. It will benefit nobody to let the economy go to pot while constitutional issues, however important, are debated.

The fires of separatism and regional disaffection are fired, at least in part, by economic factors. A sick national economy breeds discontent in the whole body, not simply in one area. The feeling of doubt about the Canadian confederation as we have known it to now, the feeling of estrangement from the centre on the part of outlying regions, is no longer peculiar to the Province of Quebec. It is increasingly apparent in other areas as well.

It is this dangerous trend which makes it vital to tackle immediately our economic problems. Besides, it is probable that a healthy national economy might be the single most persuasive argument for keeping Canada intact. Even a clear indication that conditions were improving and were likely to get better, would be a strong unifying factor. Proponents of keeping Canada whole need to be able to argue from strength. Nothing could provide more muscle than a convalescent economy.

In time of war, a nation's survival is directly and obviously threatened. At such a time, everything is mobilized in support of a single aim, victory. It is not as easy, in times of peace, to marshall a people's energy and spirit toward the same end. However, Canada today faces a threat to national survival as real as any that she has in war.

Handicapped get library service

Public libraries in Alberta will offer increased services to the visually, physically or perceptually handicapped under an agreement signed recently by Horst A. Schmid, minister of Culture, and Scott D. Saville, chairman of the Calgary Public Library Board.

The program calls for the Province to purchase such materials as large print books and "talking books" in the form of spoken word cassette tapes for the use of persons who require specialized resources. Management of the service will be the responsibility of the Calgary Public Library, whose success with a pilot "talking book" program has been widely recognized. The Calgary Board will establish contact with public libraries across the province to meet the needs of their handicapped patrons.

In co-operation with representatives of libraries and organizations serving the handicapped, Alberta Culture, Library Services Branch, will investigate existing facilities in the province for the production of materials for the handicapped.

An estimated 7000 handicapped Albertans will be able to take advantage of the program. Minister of Culture Schmid commented, "If we are to encourage these citizens to play an active role in their communities we must offer them mental and intellectual stimulation as well as physical assistance."

City fire agreement is still in limbo with Sturgeon

The fire agreement between the MD of Sturgeon and St. Albert is still in limbo and Mayor Dick Plain said Monday the impasse "cannot go on day after day."

The agreement between the two authorities officially ended July 1, but there has been an ongoing attempt to patch the agreement up so as not to lose it altogether.

Mayor Plain fears that with St. Albert taking care of the situation the way it is now, "there could be a law suit," with St. Albert not having the protection of the agreement.

St. Albert is looking after fire protection in Calahoo, out to 50th Street and in the northwest industrial area, all of which come under the jurisdiction of the MD of Sturgeon.

But Mayor Plain says the city will extend the terms of the agreement another month and a half. He says however that he doesn't want to go "worse than September 1," by which time Sturgeon should have the matter resolved.

Looking after the MD under the fire agreement is costing St. Albert at least $350,000 and the mayor says "the only way we can go at it is on a cost shared basis."

A complicating factor in the agreement is that country residential subdivisions like the Manor Estates development may keep springing up and they need fire protection just like anywhere else.

Mayor Plain referred to the difficulties imposed on the St. Albert fire service in trying to protect country residential subdivisions, and also the difficulties of those areas giving themselves a volunteer fire protection service.

"Country residential is not a town or a village," he said, "they do not have any representation even though they may become bigger than Morinville."

He also referred to difficulties caused through country residential population not being at home most of the day because their work took them to Edmonton.

The mayor emphasized that the fire agreement problem is one which the MD will have to face.

"Some of this urbanization is not all profit for the municipalities," he added.

Mayor Plain hoped the MD of Sturgeon will put some money in an area where it has been badly needed for many years.

If the MD is going to put more people into a country residential setting, the mayor points out, "it has got to provide the men and materials to handle the funding (for fire protection)."

So Mayor Plain is hoping for a cutback in country residential developments particularly if "no-one is prepared to pay for the cost of fire protection."

He also felt that the more scattered these development were, the more expensive they were to look after.

Around Town

A recent first-time visitor to Canada has some flattering things to say about this country. Gabi Filuhn of Hemer, West Germany, is in St. Albert visiting her sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Perreault, and reports that she has really enjoyed her stay. Gabi finds the people very friendly, and was taken with the amount of freedom enjoyed by Canadians. She has visited Kelowna, B.C., while here, and finds Canada an amazingly large country in contrast to those of Europe. She also finds quite a difference in our housing, eating habits and our big automobiles.

In Memoriam - William Cuts M.D.

July 16, 1977

We're going to miss you, Dr. Bill,
Our hearts are sad today;
Who will we find your shoes to fill,
To fight the good fight with zest and will,
In town and school and Church alway;
A pioneering Christian still;
Unselfish champion of the Way.

St. Albert is a growing town,
A city on the make,
And we are all a busy crowd,
With little time to take;
But Dr. Cuts would see a need,
Then, gently stubborn, sow a seed
And stick around to nurse and feed
Each project till it flourished.

There is no doubt your dollar drive
For self, was strangely lacking,
But every deal for others weal
Received your hearty backing;
For others good you gave your best,
For others health, your time,
How better preach that Better Way
Than live it all the time?

Important message for students

Submitted by Caryn Duncan Manageress, H.A.S.

Students - are you looking for summer employment? If so, why not register with the St. Albert Hire-A-Student program? Job orders are coming in at the rate of approximately eight per day and the supply of students is now running low!

I'd be particularly interested in anyone willing and able to babysit and/or do housework. These are both responsible jobs and there seems to be very few students willing to take on the responsibility of doing either.

"Hire-a-Student" is a service available to YOU and by registering you have another chance for finding summer employment. Just call at the Community Services Offices at 20 Muir Drive and fill out an application form. Or phone 459-6601, extension 80 for information. Office hours are from 9 a.m. - 4 p.m.

Lougheed claims Canada being outhustled by in grain sales

I'd like to start just by repeating what I said. What I've said is that, at the conclusion of the trip to the Soviet Union and the Mid-East, it appears to me that the Canadians have been outhustled by the Americans in terms of grain marketing and that this is particularly evident by the Americans securing a long-term grain arrangement of five years of a minimum of six million tons with the Soviet Union, which has been one of Canada's important customers, and that Canada has been getting a declining portion of that important Soviet market.

I further said that I thought it would be timely to reassess Canada's grain marketing strategies and that I would be making representations to the Federal Government by the end of the summer.

Mr. Lang now has come back and responded with the, I think, ridiculous comment that my remarks in some way could damage grain sales. I find that incomprehensible and close to being stupid! There is no way remarks such as mine could conceivably affect somebody's purchase of grain -- the remarks to the effect that Canadians have been outhustled. The only logic that I can see in Mr. Lang's remarks is that he thinks, with such a charge, that the Premier of Alberta is going to back off in any public debate with regard to Canada's grain marketing, then he doesn't know the Premier of Alberta, as I don't intend to back off! In fact, his statement has caused me a great deal of concern because it reeks with complacency. It's certainly overly defensive and how he can take the position of being complacent when the prices are going down rapidly and affecting the economy in this Province, and in Western Canada, I don't know. I would think that he would have welcomed my recommendation. I don't think he has had the opportunity to talk to the Premier of the Soviet Union, or the Shah of Iran, about grain marketing and I would think he would welcome my recommendations.

As far as jurisdiction is concerned, the Province of Alberta produces one-third of Canada's grain and under the constitution of Canada the responsibility for Agriculture is jointly shared by the Provincial Governments and the Federal Government and I intend to start now with an intensive program of full involvement in Canada's grain marketing activities and examine every nook and cranny of it to see if we could improve our position for the future. At the moment the figures Mr. Lang quotes are the result of our overdependency upon sales to China. I think that's a precarious position to leave our farmers in Western Canada.

City residents win Molson trophy

Two elegant St. Albertans were awarded a prize for their sartorial splendor at the Klondike Sourdough Raft Races on Sunday. Ron Walker and Chris Berezuk walked off with the Molson Trophy for being The Best Dressed Two Person Racing Team in the races.

Chris and Ron had entered their 20 foot, 400 pound raft in the mixed event of the races, in which they placed fourth. Mrs. Berezuk's son Zane, with crew Robin Benoit, also of St. Albert, placed fifth in the event.

Mrs. Berezuk and Mr. Walker tested their craft in the Sturgeon River, aided and abetted by some hearties enlisted from the Bruin Inn. After a successful test run, all agreed that the raft should be named the "Sturgeon Special."

Mr. Walker said after the race that he and Mrs. Berezuk will be studying the science of raft racing in the coming months, in hopes of a victory at next year's races.

City dance teacher is many talented

A person qualified to supervise a variety of cultural activities is a rare find indeed. Such a person is Jenny Warren, an instructor with the City of St. Albert's Community Services, Recreation and Culture department.

Mrs. Warren is well-qualified in her field. A member of the British Teachers' Dance Association, she trained at the Dance and Drama Academy and the Royal Academy of Ballet. Prior to coming to St. Albert four months ago, Mrs. Warren ran her own dancing school in Middlesborough, England.

Because of the wide range of her talents and training, Mrs. Warren will teach a number of different classes for the city. At the pre-school level, she will preside over a class entitled "Dance Doodles and Drama." This group will become involved in exploration and discovery, while studying different crafts, and developing body and sensory awareness.

Another class will be held for elementary schoolers. This will be a two-hour class at the Grandin Clubhouse in combined dancing. The group will spend a half-hour period on each of the following: ballet, tap, gymnastic dancing and modern dance. Mrs. Warren emphasizes that her classes will be fun, and that she identifies with her pupils as a friend. She says she doesn't look at her classes with an eye to discovering future prima ballerinas, but rather leads her students to discover that dancing can be an exhilerating hobby.

In addition to dancing lessons, she will conduct classes in mime and dancing for elementary students, and a class in combined dancing for adults.

Anyone interested in enrolling their child in these classes can do so through the Community Services, Recreation and Culture Department.

Science to be popularized

The Ministry for Science and Technology will soon release a report on science and the mass media. The report will emphasize the importance of science coverage of adequate and sufficient quality.

At present fewer than one of four scientists feel that mass media reporting of the sciences is up to par.

At the same time the need for better information programs for the time 100 plus science associations and societies was stressed.

One science group is promoting the formation of a Canadian Science Association and the scholary science journal is planning to transform itself into a popular publication.$

Another step being touted is giving the government sponsored Science Forum, published by the U of T, wider appeal in Canada. This would require additional government funding of about $100,000 a year and could be in production by 1978.

Unbreakable wine package

Andres Wines has begun producing an unbreakable wine package in its Calgary winery to be available only in Alberta.

The lightweight carton and plastic container measuring 5.5 x 5.5 x 10 inches holds four litres (5.4 bottles).

A non-drip spigot will dispense a single glass or whole carafe depending upon the occasion.

The disposable 'Cellar Cask' may be stored in your refrigerator without losing its flavour or quality. It also makes an ideal wine package for picnics, camping and barbecues.

CANADIAN HANDLING OF NEWS UNDER SCRUTINY

Accusations of bias and subversion made against the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation by the Prime Minister and the Canadian Radio-Television Telecommunications Commission are a strange thing to have to listen to.

They come in the context of a general disatisfaction with the role of the news media in Canada, particularly whether or not they are giving us a balanced view of Canada and indeed the rest of the world.

But surely Canadians cannot really gripe about the coverage their own media give them of their own country; nor can the media be faulted for painting a gloomy picture of strife in every sector of society, culminating in the struggle for this country's unity.

Canadians are griping about news coverage though; the latest plaintiff is British Columbia which just said it is only getting about one percent coverage by the national media.

There is the danger that in the efforts to meet the demand for coverage of Canadian events, the rest of the world will be given short shrift and this at a time in history when the really big events are all taking place out of Canada's borders.

Pickup the weekly air mail edition of the Manchester Guardian and you won't find one story about Canada in it from week to week.

But that does not mean that that respected publication has an anti-Canadian bias - there was thorough coverage of the Quebec crisis last November and no doubt there would be thorough coverage of any Canadian crisis which merited it.

The lesson from the Manchester Guardian is that Canadian news hardly makes it when it is in fair competition with the rest of the world.

Because southern Canadians are also able to switch on the ABC and NBC American news networks, they are in a position to see whether the rest of the world is being sacrificed on the altar of Canadian content for its own sake.

Events in the Third World, Africa and Asia have reached such a pass that all the media are paying much more attention to what is going on in these countries than at any time in the recent past.

The Third World countries are also known to be thinking of establishing their own news service, something which could be more than a match for the big Western news conglomerates like Reuters and Associated Press.

Canadian news tends to be boring because it is so predictable compared with other news which sings across the wires.

Listen to or watch the news tonight and it can be guaranteed that many of the following variables will come up: news from the eternal Ottawa-Montreal-Toronto triangle, something from BC if you're lucky, the turgidities of Federal politics and politicians, Polysar, Sky Shops, disputes in the post office and among the air traffic controllers, national unity and Quebec. Then of course there has to be news about pipelines and development in Canada's north, and mercury poisoning on Indian reserves.

And that about sums Canadian news up in a nutshell. It's a very limited bag and if anything it is easily overshadowed by other world events.

Though listening to the emphasis given to it by the national media, one would sometimes think that Canada cornered the market for news which was "entertainment" value.

Success

Success is speaking words of praise,
In cheering other people's ways,
In doing just the best you can,
With every task and every plan;
It's silence when your speech would hurt,
Politness when your neighbor's curt,
It's deafness when the scandal flows,
And sympathy with others' woes;
It's loyalty when duty calls,
It's courage when disaster falls,
It's patience when the hours are long,
It's found in laughter and in song;
It's in the silent time of prayer
In happiness and in despair,
In all of life and nothing less
We find the thing we call Success.

Concerned about cash-flow shortage

On April 4, 1977 Council was asked by me how they were financing the purchase of the 160 acres of land in the Campbell Industrial Site. In their answer to me various sections of the Municipal Act were quoted. In reading these sections it appeared to me that council might not be acting within these sections and I therefore asked the Department of Municipal Affairs to conduct an investigation. The City of St. Albert told the municipal investigators that the purchase sum had been budgeted for in the 1977 budget as a current expenditure. The city is also budgeting for an equal revenue from the sale of this land. The budget had been finalized between April 4, 1977 (when I asked my questions) and the investigation later on.

The Gazette of July 20, 1977 reports that at the council meeting of July 18 a letter from the Deputy Minister of Municipal Affairs was read declaring that council had acted within legal bounds. I also received a letter regarding my request for an inquiry. My letter came from the Minister of Municipal Affairs giving the same information but also stated: "..... the City does have approval to borrow the balance of the money through Local Authorities Board Order 9365, the balance of that order is the amount of $2,063,000.00". This order means that bylaw 9/77 which council advertised for $3,-520,000 had been reduced by nearly 1½ million dollars. Council has therefore been prevented from using this bylaw to cover their hasty payment of April 1, 1977.

Unless the land is sold this year, the City of St. Albert will have a cash-flow shortage of $1½ million this year. However the present council is not concerned, which is understandable. This problem will be left for the next council to solve.

Bridge "park"?

If the Bridge Park is to be a park, then it will be a park and not a garbage disposal ground.

Then St. Albert can build a recreational trailer sewage disposal station at the sewage pumping station or right between the City Office and the river.

Optimistic for St. Albert

Just a brief note to express my appreciation for the article which appeared in the June 6th edition of the Gazette. I certainly gave my family and me a great introduction into the city and made us feel most welcome. We are very grateful to you for your thoughtfulness.

You may be interested to know that since the article was printed, I have had a number of calls from old acquaintances that are either living here now or were passing through. I have also received excellent reception from the business people in the city and had a large number of people introduce themselves to me as a result of the article. I believe this is a clear indication of how well accepted and widely read your newspaper is. I personally enjoy receiving it every week and find it extremely interesting and informative.

I think there is a great future here in St. Albert for all its residents and businesses and look forward to being a part of it. I wish you and your newspaper every success in the growth of the city.

Kindly convey my sincere thanks to Mr. Jamison and other members of your newspaper who generously made the article possible.

Unifarm against dam site decision

Unifarm President Dobson Lea said that Environment Minister David Russell has shown arrogant disregard for the welfare of district farmers by pushing ahead with plans for a dam on the Red Deer River at Spruce View.

Mr. Lea expressed dismay that the government had announced its intention to proceedwith the dam at the Spruce View site despite objections of farmers, farm organizations and its own Environment Conservation Authority.

In two submissions on the subject, Unifarm has advocated a dam at site 11, upstream of Sundre, which would meet the requirements of water control without destroying farm lands and disrupting the livelihoods of about 20 farm families in the Spruce View area.

The government decision, Mr. Lea said, is not in keeping with its avowed dedication to the preservation of the agricultural industry, which is apparently to be sacrificed again for the benefit of petro-chemical plants in the Red Deer area.

Its action last year in halting plans for a strip-mine and power plant in the Camrose area had given rise to hopes that the importance of agriculture as a primary industry was finally to be recognized. However, Mr. Lea said, the decision to proceed at the Spruce View location is an indication that preservation of food producing lands for the future has a lower priority than lucrative short-term returns from the petro-chemical industry.

It is particularly disturbing, he said, in view of the fact that feasible alternatives are available.

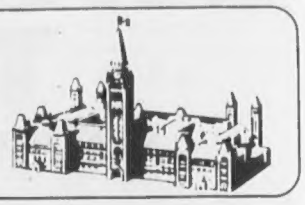

Higher costs associated with site 11 and alternate storage facilities were cited by Mr. Russell as one reason for selection of the Spruce View site. Mr. Lea questioned whether it is possible to weigh the social and economic loss of agricultural land gone forever against the dollars and cents value of a one-shot capital outlay at site 6.

Unifarm, though committed to the preservation of agricultural land, does not wish to impede progress or disregard the needs of communities or industries located along the Red Deer River system.

It is, however, deeply disturbed that the provincial government, while paying lip-service to the future role of agriculture in the economy of the province, is now prepared to let costs play a major part in a decision of this magnitude, the Unifarm president said.

OTTAWA and Small Business

A Trophy Case

by JIM SMITH

There are days – many of them – when one believes, passionately, that the federal government offers prizes to selected departments. The winning departments are those which come up with the most bizarre and least sensible programs.

Obviously, competition for these prizes must be fierce. Nonetheless, the Unemployment Insurance Commission deserves to hold a substantial share of the awards.

The U.I.C.'s intention is admirable: to ease the pain caused by involuntary lack of work. The effect, however, is different from the intent; often, it seems the U.I.C. is responsible for creating unemployment. Certainly, this has been a frequent complaint voiced by members of the small business community.

The Commission's treatment of Canadian auto workers provides an interesting example of the U.I.C. at work.

Every summer, the auto manufacturers shut down to retool their factories for the new models. The shut-down can carry on for 6 weeks or more. During this period, workers are laid off.

Normally, any worker who is seeking unemployment insurance benefits is required to register first with Canada Manpower. Any worker who is not available for work – or refuses work arranged by Manpower – loses all unemployment insurance benefits.

Auto workers are different, though. They are not required to register with Manpower. For the first two weeks of the annual layoff, they collect holiday pay. The next two weeks constitute the statutory waiting period. Then they become available for regular U.I.C. benefits plus a special supplementary benefit organized by the auto companies. Taken together, these benefits equal 95 per cent of a worker's regular pay.

Other laid-off workers employed by big firms get similar treatment. The U.I.C. has a special provision for mass layoffs of less than seven weeks' duration; under these conditions, the Commission is allowed to waive the requirement of registration for employment.

This arrangement has serious implications for all Canadians, not the least being the gift of paid holidays compliments of the Canadian taxpayer for certain classes of workers. The Canadian Federation of Independent Business points out, quite rightly, that workers who are laid-off for any period by a small employer must register immediately for other employment if they wish to retain their benefits. When the small employer is in a position to recall the worker, that worker may have been forced to accept other employment; then the employer must go to the expense of training a new worker. The auto companies don't face this problem.

Yes, the trophy shelves at the U.I.C. must be crowded with coveted government awards.

What Caught Our Eye

PAINFUL [NAKED] TRUTH

A bizarre string of accidents left a Lancashire civil servant nursing three painful injuries, and regretting the day he agreed to mend a blocked sink ... in the nude.

The do-it-yourself plumber, wrapped only in a towel, was attacked by his pet kitten as he bent down, knocked unconscious by hitting his head on the sink and then received a broken arm as he was accidentally tipped off a stretcher by an ambulance attendant who could not stop laughing.

The incidents recalled in a civil service newsletters, put the unfortunate man in hospital.

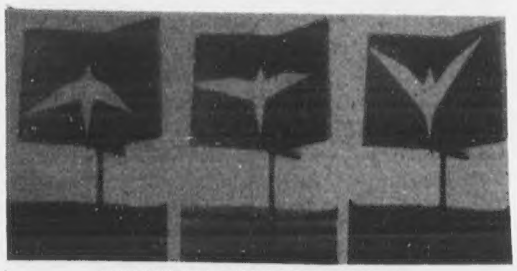

They happened says the newsletter, as an unnamed man was called from the shower by his wife to unblock the kitchen sink.

As he put his head under the sink to examine the U bend, the family's kitten spotted beneath the towel "movement from a part of the anatomy not normally exposed to view." It pounced, and the victim gave out an agonizing yell and smashed his head on the sink, knocking himself unconscious and gashing his head.

Ambulancemen were called and when one heard how the man had come to be lying unconscious on the kitchen floor, he laughed so hard he dropped his end of the stretcher and the patient tumbled back onto the floor breaking an arm.

COTTAGE VS MOTOR HOME
From the Financial Post

If you're paying off a cottage or motor home, chances are your family's vacations are costing a whole lot more than you think, reports Jennifer von Buchstab in The Financial Post Magazine. In fact, what is generally touted to be a cheap vacation may end up costing you thousands of dollars a year. In a comparison of financing and operating costs, FPM "purchased" a hypothetical cottage and motor home. In each case, a $10,000 down payment was made and the balance financed over 15 years. Operating costs (gasoline, propane, hydro, taxes, insurance, and so on) were calculated over a five-year period. Then, to get the actual net cost of ownership, both cottage and motor home were "sold." The cottage was assumed to have appreciated a conservative 5% annually, while the motor home held its value. The cost? $5,262 annually over those five years for the cottage, while the motor home was an even more expensive proposition, at $7,182 annually. Not a cheap holiday by any stretch of the imagination - unless, of course, you're regularly in the habit of spending that much on family vacations. But if a cottage is not to your fancy, if cost is no problem and if a motor home seems, well, just too common, then how about a helihome? For a mere $310,000, says The Financial Post Magazine, Winnebago will sell you a helicopter completely furnished and equipped with air conditioning, shower, color TV, and bar. It'll cost $75-$80 an hour to operate, and you'll get just under two miles to the gallon of aircraft fuel. But you would be the only guy on the block ...

'MOVING PICTURE' SCARES BIRDS

Picture of flapping bird is painted on each vane. As wind turns vane it gives appearance of bird taking off so birds in field fly away.

Latest bird scarer from Agricaid Ltd. in England the 'Flyaway Peter' is designed to discourage even desparately hungry birds from attacking crops.

A development of the "Flash Harry" bird scarer, it uses the biograph principle of early moving pictures. The revolving metal vanes carry silhouettes of a flapping bird made from reflective white material which produce a differing flashing and flapping effect, depending on the quality of light falling on the silhouettes. Being erratic in motion, depending on the wind, birds are constantly startled by another 'bird' apparently flying away in alarm.

Agricaid say that the "Fly-away Peter" - which costs about $40 - is particularly effective when two or three are used together in an area where there is a dense infestation of birds.

A Look at Other Centres

WESTLOCK COUNCIL BERATES BEAVERS

Our national animal is the subject of some hositility in the Westlock area. At the July 14 meeting of the Westlock Municipal Council, councillors held the beavers responsible for various problems in the area.

One councillor was heard to say, "Those crafty little beggars! If you foil them at one end of the culvert, they just walk across the road and work upstream inside the culvert!"

The appealing but destructive little creatures have plugged the culverts, which has resulted in flooded fields and haylands, washed out roads and sluggish waters downstream. Taxpayers have deluged the municipal office with complaints.

One area in particular has been at target for the beavers' activities. They have plugged a culvert in a deep ravine on Highway 663, causing several accidents, including one in which a housetrailer was totally demolished. The area's district engineer was present at the meeting to inform the council that residents in the area of the highway want the culvert replaced by a bridge.

The beavers have also been active in the area about three miles east of Jarvie, where they have been building a dam under a bridge.

NEW LIGHTS ON HIGHWAY 2 SOUTH
From the Leduc Representative

Motorists northbound on Highway 2 are going to need a brake beginning Friday, July 29.

A 45 mile per hour speed limit will go into effect at Nisku that day and there are also plans for a similar speed zone heading up to traffic lights being installed at Ellerslie.

At Nisku, a light has been erected at the northbound lanes' intersection with the east-west road, flashing orange to highway traffic and red at the crossroad to support existing stop signs.

Officials hope the reduction in speed will alleviate a serious accident problem in the vicinity of that intersection.

The 45 m.p.h. zone is designed as an interim measure as plans have been made to rebuild Highway 2 from Leduc to Ellerslie to a freeway standard within six years.

The 45 m.p.h. limit will also be applied at Ellerslie once the installed traffic lights are functioning.

TELLING THE CONSERVATIVES FROM THE LIBERALS
From the Edson Leader

Although to the casual glance Conservatives and Liberals may appear to be almost indistinguishable, here are some hints which should result in positive identification:

Liberals buy most of the books that have been banned somewhere. Conservatives form censorship committees and read them as a group.

Conservatives usually wear hats and almost always clean their paint brushes.

Liberals give their worn-out clothes to those less fortunate. Conservatives wear theirs.

Conservatives employ exterminators. Liberals step on the bugs.

Liberals name their children after currently popular figures, politicians and entertainers. Conservative children are named after their parents or grandparents, according to where the most money is.

Liberals keep trying to cut down on smoking, but are not successful. Neither are Conservatives.

Conservatives tend to keep their shades drawn, although there is seldom any reason why they should. Liberals ought to, but don't.

Conservatives study the financial pages of the newspaper. Liberals put them in the bottom of the bird cage.

Most of the stuff you see alongside the road has been thrown out of car windows by Liberals.

Conservatives raise dahlias, Dalmatians and eyebrows. Liberals raise Airdales, kids and taxes.

Liberals eat the fish they catch. Conservatives hang them on the wall.

Conservative boys date Liberal girls. They plan to marry Conservative girls, but they feel they're entitled to a little fun first.

Liberals make up plans and then do something else. Conservatives follow the plans their grandfathers made.

Conservatives sleep in twin beds - some even in separate rooms. That is why there are more Liberals.

"My avocation," said the young man eagerly, "is surfing and underwater photography."

"Young man," replied the personnel manager in a very icy tone, "in this firm vice-presidents have avocations; junior executives have leisure-time activities; department heads have hobbies. What you are doing is just fooling around."

Banff wardens patrol for rowdies

Wardens at Banff have mounted a quiet patrol on behalf of the silent majority of national park campers.

"We're getting after the rowdies, the vandals and the all-night party types who disturb the peace" said Chief Park Warden Andy Anderson.

More wardens have been hired to patrol campgrounds and provide "silence for the silent majority."

"It's working. News of two recent court convictions and fines of $250 each seems to have got around. Campers who disturb the peace will find no welcome mat at Banff," Anderson said.

The program involves stop checks at campground entrances after the bars close, and cautions to boisterous campers plus a persuasive appeal to teen-agers and young bachelors to "cool it."

"We're sorry about the stop checks but all we're trying to do is to remind latecomers to respect the rights of others to get to bed early and have a good night's sleep."

EDUCATION COMMENT

School discipline not so bad after all?

Despite the recent hue and cry about school discipline, an Alberta study of the matter has discovered that more people are satisfied with the discipline in schools than are not.

The study was jointly sponsored by the Alberta Teachers Association, the Alberta School Trustees Association and the Department of Education. The study, carried out in 100 schools, took the form of a one-page questionnaire, and was answered by trustees, teachers, students and parents.

The questionnaire asked respondents what they thought discipline was like, what they thought it should be, and what were one or two of the main causes of discipline problems.

The Alberta study revealed that a plurality of 41 percent of all participants felt that discipline was just about right. Parents of school children especially favoured this attitude. Thirty-two percent of the respondents thought discipline was nearly right but perhaps too lenient.

A difference in attitude was detectable amongst the various participating groups. More trustees than any other group found discipline erred on the side of leniency, and teachers were the second largest group taking this position. In their overall view of the matter, trustees were closer to teachers than they were to parents, administrators and students. It has been suggested that the trustees' attitude arises from the fact that they are exposed to and must deal with severe misbehaviour. As a result, they perceive discipline as too lenient.

The questionnaire also included ideas for improving school discipline, and asked respondents to comment. One of these suggested relaxing attendance regulations, allowed students to quit school at any time after elementary school. This idea was rejected by 76 percent of the participants. A more traditional suggestion proposed that the schools use whatever means are necessary to maintain discipline including the strap. The participants were divided on this, with 14 percent rating it an excellent idea, while 15 percent took the opposite view. A more humanistic proposal, that students should be given more freedom and encouraged to develop self-discipline also brought divided opinion, with eight percent rating the idea excellent and 17 percent stating it was "no good."

Lack of discipline in the home was the reason most often cited for school discipline problems. The next most frequently mentioned cause was poor parent-teacher rapport.

The study also found that students, parents and teachers connected with small schools felt there was less of a problem with discipline than those in large schools.

Parents participate in parish kindergarten

It is a proven fact that parent participation in a child's education enriches the educative process. The St. Albert Kindergarten is aware of this fact and provides parents with the opportunity to involve themselves directly in their child's schooling. The parents, the family and the home are recognized as the most important influences on a child's success in life. By working together, the parent and the kindergarten each contribute to the development of the child.

Participation in the kindergarten takes several forms. Parents can be a member of the kindergarten board, in which case they are involved directly in planning, implementation and evaluation of the kindergarten program. The suggestions and concerns of parents are always welcomed by the board. In addition, each parent is asked to evaluate the kindergarten program by completing a program evaluation questionnaire. The results of these are used for planning future programs.

At the classroom level, the Parish Kindergarten has always depended heavily on parent involvement in the classroom. In this way parents become familiar with the program, and work together with the teacher to further the child's development.

During the 1977-78 term, emphasis will be placed on planning and organizing a more extensive parent program. Parent workshops and seminars will be designed to serve specific needs and concerns of parents. It is hoped that these workshops will provide individuals with additional information useful in improving their role as parents of young children.

Multilingual book service introduced

Alberta's public libraries will soon offer their patrons books in any of 17 foreign languages. Details of a province wide multilingual book service have been announced by Horst A. Schmid, minister of Culture, and Steve McVittie, chairman of the Edmonton Public Library Board.

Alberta Culture, Library Services Branch, will cooperate with the National Library of Canada in bringing to the province a wide selection of titles in the non-official languages. The Edmonton Public Library, which currently holds the largest collection of foreign language materials among public libraries in the province, will be responsible for the promotion, distribution and control of these additional materials once they are received.

The books will be sent to public libraries throughout the province in accordance with the expressed needs of ethno-cultural groups within their communities. In addition, an examination of existing foreign language materials and their availability will be undertaken. Readers will enjoy a varied selection of educational, informative and purely entertaining titles in many subject areas; fiction, biography, travel, child care, hobbies, folklore and beautifully illustrated children's books are included. They will meet the demand for foreign language materials from small libraries across the province.

Koziak announces pension adjustment

Education Minister Julian Koziak recently announced that in view of the current moderating trend in inflation rates below the double digit figures of 1974 and 1975, pensions under the teachers' retirement fund act will return to an annual adjustment. There will be no mid-year adjustment in 1977. The next adjustment will be effective January 1, 1978.

A similar announcement concerning pensions administered by the Government of Alberta was made recently.

New books at the St. Albert Public Library

This jolly giraffe is part of the display of Children's art now showing at the St. Albert Public Library. Come down to the library and see a bevy of loveable lions, precocious parrots, earnest elephants and happy hippos, all drawn by the children of St. Albert for the library's poster contest.

Condominium by John D. MacDonald. John D. MacDonald's big new novel takes us behind the pastel facade of the retirement condominium boom into the predatory world of Florida's get-rich-quick land speculators, a world where the young get fat on the dreams of the old.

Grattan O'Leary: Recollections of People, Press and Politics by Grattan O'Leary. With his well-known blend of grace, humour, Irish charm and outspoken candour, Grattan O'Leary writes of more than 60 years at the centre of Canadian political life as reporter, editor and senator. Looking back, he recalls the nation's leaders he knew so well from Laurier to Trudeau. This is a unique memoir frankly told by a great man

The Ion Effect by Fred Soyka. Why do you often feel sluggish when the atmosphere is overcast? Refreshed just after a rainstorm? Why do you feel listless after a short period in an automobile? The explanation for these common experiences is most probably the "ion effect." This book shows how the ion effect may be making your life miserable -- every day. And it tells what you can do about it.

Jesus of Nazareth by William Barclay. This extraordinary book is based on Franco Zeffirelli's film shown to millions this past Easter on TV. The 147 superb colour photographs portray an all-star cast -- Robert Powell as Jesus, Olivia Hussey as Mary, and in supporting roles, Oliver, Quinn, Bancroft, Steiger, and more.

Return to the Thebes by Allen Drury. Here brought vividly to life, are Akhenaten and Nefertiti, Tutankhamon and all their supremely powerful, fatally flawed family, set against the backdrop of an Ancient Egypt which was then the dominant nation on earth, ruling half the known world through its mystical, divine Pharaohs.

The Stress of my Life by Hans Selye. An illuminating, fascinating autobiography of the author of Stress Without Distress. It explains, in terms the layman can understand, Dr. Selye's research findings and the code of behaviour he derived from them. Selye speaks casually and candidly about himself and his closest concerns.

Where to Eat in Canada 1977/78 by Anne Hardy. A guide to Canadian restaurants from coast to coast -- the only one of its kind on the market today. Now in its seventh edition, it contains up-to-date information and personal comment on over 400 restaurants in every part of Canada.

Iceberg carries Soviet base

Although they pose a navigational hazard, icebergs are not usually looked upon as a threat to national security. However, one particular iceberg in the Arctic Ocean is causing officials in the federal government some concern.

The huge ice mass carries Soviet planes, helicopters, navy personnel and scientists and is drifting in the Arctic Ocean about 300 miles from the North pole.

Canadian armed forces and government officials think that the iceberg may be impinging on our interests in the north, and suspect that information gathered by the iceberg base is being used to aid Soviet submarines in moving under the ice. The iceberg drifted into the Canadian sector of the ocean about 18 months ago. Since that time, several pilots from the Cold Lake Air Base have flown over the iceberg, taking low-level photographs of the installations, which include several huts and tents, a dozen Antonov transports and five helicopters by a runway. The iceberg itself is 3.5 miles long, two miles wide and 90 feet thick.

According to the Soviets, the iceberg station is for scientific purposes and is attached to the Leningrad Scientific Institute for Arctic and Antarctic Studies.

Barter Theatre was musical Charlie Brown

Alberta Barter Theatre's funfilled musical production, You're A Good Man Charlie Brown opens tonight at 9 p.m.

A program note says that the time of the action is "an average day in the life of Charlie Brown." It really is just that, a day made up of little moments picked from all the days of Charlie Brown, from Valentine's day to the baseball season, from wild optimism to utter despair, all mixed in with the lives of his friends (both human and non-human) are strung together on the string of a single day, from bright uncertain morning to hopeful starlit evening. Is there a personality of our time who has had more universal appeal than Charlie Brown? If you stopped anyone on the street from age four to 80 and mentioned Charlie Brown you would be sure to see a smile of recognition and appreciation. You're A Good Man Charlie Brown is neither a children's show nor an adult's show - it is a family show. It can bring enjoyment to anyone who has gone through the pains and joys of "growing up." With an innocent profoundness unique to children, Charlie Brown and his friends reassure us that the act of "growing up" is not complete at any age.

You're A Good Man Charlie Brown, based on the comic strip "Peanuts" by Charles M. Schulz with book, music and lyrics by Clark Gesner was first produced on Broadway by Arthur Whitelaw and Gene Persson. Alberta Barter Theatre's production is directed by Susan Ferley and features Kathie Ball, Lorraine Behnan, Christopher Lewis, Michael Murdock, Lawrence Reese and John Wheelwright, with musical accompaniment by Brian Johnson and Sylvia Maltby.

You're a Good Man Charlie Brown opens on Wednesday, July 27 and runs until August 14 at the Torches Outdoor Theatre in the courtyard of Corbett Hall (112 Street and 82 Avenue). No show on Mondays. Curtain time is 9 p.m. In the event of rain, performances will move indoors to the Studio Theatre. Admission is $3 for adults and $2 for students (with cards) and senior citizens. Pre-schoolers are admitted free of charge. For further information please contact 432-2495.

Japanese kites exhibit opens

A 50 foot long dragon kite sails across the ceiling. Ferocious fighter kites hover menacingly in a corner, waiting for an opportunity to tangle.

These are part of a new exhibit, "Kites of Japan," sponsored by Alberta Culture and just opened at the Provincial Museum. More than 130 bamboo and paper kites from the Japan Foundation are on display until September 5 in the main lobby.

Building and flying kites in Japan is a long respected art. Kites are flown in all seasons by adults as well as children. Each kite in the show reflects some aspect of Japanese culture. Kites decorated with a crane or turtle symbolize long life. The dragon kite means prosperity. Other kites are said to bring good luck if they are painted with the likeness of a mythical god or if they carry the name of a first born son. Kites can frighten evil spirits or take prayers for good fishing closer to the gods.

Two kites in the show measure more than 10 square feet. These are huge kites that teams of men from rival towns send up during festivals. Often several people and a strong winch are needed to manoeuver the kite successfully. At the height of Japanese technology, kites were flown weighing more than a ton.

Japanese kites are made by bending and lashing bamboo to form a basic shape, then stretching and gluing paper over the frame until the surface is tight as a drum. Then the kites are painted, and control lines attached.

As part of the exhibit, Dr. Isutami Hiroi, one of Japan's leading collectors of kites, will be conducting a series of five free afternoon workshops at the museum starting August 4. People eight years and older will learn how to make and fly a Japanese kite. Space is limited and advance registration is required. Call 452-2150 for more information.

The Provincial Museum is located at 12845 - 102 Avenue. Admission and parking is free.

Savage God gives readings at Library

Savage God, an alternative theatre group, in co-operation with Community Programs of the Edmonton Public Library, invites you to attend a series of free noon-hour prose-poetry readings in August. The programs, which are all different, are approximately 45 minutes in length and have been divised under the title WORDS, WORDS, WORDS? The programs will feature prose and poetry selections from the worlds of classical and contemporary writers, among them Appia, Artaud, Baudelaire, Bethune, Blake, Craig, Dostoevsky, Eliot, Ginsburg, Ibsen, Jarry Joyce Marlowe, McClure, Shakespeare, Strindberg, Veilokosky, and Yeats.

The readings will be presented by John Juliani at the Central Edmonton Public Library Theatre, August 9, 10 and 11 at 12:15 p.m. Admission is free and the public is invited to bring a box lunch.

In addition to the noonhour presentations, Savage God will give public readings to three as yet unperformed and, in some cases, unfinished plays.

These readings are being presented in the hope that interested audience members will be able and willing to participate in the discussion period that will follow each presentation and with their feedback help in the development of these three works.

The playwrights, all of them virtually unknown, will be in attendance at the readings and are actively interested in this process.

The plays to be read are: Manitou's Last Stand or The Tragedy of Almight Voice by John Bluethner (Winnipeg); Santiago Variations, based on an idea from Santiago by Thomas Bush by Alan Filewood (Edmonton) and Children of the Night by Gabriel Emmanuel and Howard Ryan (Winnipeg).

The readings will take place in the Library Theatre at 8 p.m., August 9, 10 and 11. Admission is free.

Concerning Women Of Today's World

Jean Begley Writes

I had a very pleasant surprise when Miss Harriet Moore of Capital Cable Company at Sturgeon Centre, invited me to come and be interviewed at the Studio. What a pleasant young woman and helpful TV staff - it was as though I was talking directly to the people and friends in St. Albert and I was thrilled to have this opportunity. Once again my gratitude to the Gazette and Capital Cable Company.

Here are some answers to recent questions:

Ques. My finger nails keep chipping even though I manicure them regularly. I would be greatly obliged if you could help me?

Ans. Your trouble might be caused by using nail polish remover too often, which will have a very drying effect on your nails. Try applying a fresh coat of nail polish often, without removing the undercoat. Only use the polish remover about once a week or when you feel it is necessary. Then use a good skin food cream on your nails and apply nail hardener before renewing the polish.

Ques. I have been asked to join a party going to a dance and an escort will be arranged on 'a blind date.' Will my boy friend do you think, see me home after the dance?

Ans. I would strongly advise you to remain with your party after the dance and go home as you came, unless your 'blind date' turns out to be someone you know well. I feel sure that your parents would be in agreement with my views.

Ques. My boy friend often brings me a box of candy, but when he is handing them round to other members of our family, he always leaves me to the last and then helps himself. Surely he should offer them to me first as I am his girl friend?

Ans. Your boy friend is quite right to leave you till the last and then help himself, because you are closest to him and therefore the favoured one. Treating you so is in reality paying you a compliment.

Ques. I will shortly be going on a vacation for a couple of weeks. I shall be travelling most of the time with a large group of people. Must I join in all the tours and jollifications and chat? This worries me, as I do not like talking constantly and would prefer far more to go and see the sights.

Ans. There is no necessity for you to enter into every tour and event unless you want to, but be kind and polite to all your companions. Those people who have travelled on 'tours' frequently, realize that many of their fellow travellers do not wish to talk a lot and to 'do their own thing' in their own way. Be very careful if you are in strange country about taking off on your own and certainly not without your Courier's approval.

Mrs. Begley cannot answer all requests for information personally but as many concerns overlap she endeavours to handle all problems presented in her continuing columns. Readers are invited to address correspondence on any social situation or etiquette matter to Mrs. Begley in care of the Gazette, Box 263, St. Albert, where they will be picked up regularly by the author.

Alice Bots is bride of Maurice Bouchard

The St. Albert Roman Catholic Church was the scene of a beautiful summer wedding on July 2 when Father Al Roy performed the service to unite in marriage Alice Bots, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jan Bots of St. Albert and Maurice Bouchard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bouchard of Madeleine, Quebec.

Deb Rutledge sang The Wedding Song, Annie's Song in English, as well as Amazing Grace in French. Mrs. Bertha Kennedy accompanied her on the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in a full length gown of lace over satin. Beautiful lace flowers adorned the raised neckline and sleeves. The full skirt was decorated with a design, and a long train graced the back of the gown from the waist. The veil was shoulder length and the bottom layer was waist length. It was crowned with two rows of daisies. The bridal veil and gown was designed and sewn by the bride's mother, Betty.

The bride carried a bouquet of red roses with three pink orchids, tied with pink ribbons. The groom's gift to the bride was an opal heart pendant.

Maid of Honour was Susan Hunter, while bridesmaids were Tracy Henderson, Mavis Larson and Anne Cotterall. All attendants' dresses were sewn by the mother of the bride. All wore floor length gowns in pink sheer over satin. Their bouquets were pink carnations with daisies and baby's breath. Irene Martens, cousin of the bride was flower girl. She wore a contrasting colour to the bridesmaids.

Attending the groom were Jocelyn Crosetiere, Marcel Deveaux, friends of the groom and John and Marvin Bots, brothers of the bride. Bernie Douzieech and Roy Vanderkamp acted as ushers. The groom chose a black tuxedo with a white shirt for the occasion, while the groomsmen wore grey suits with pink shirts. The ushers wore burgundy suits.

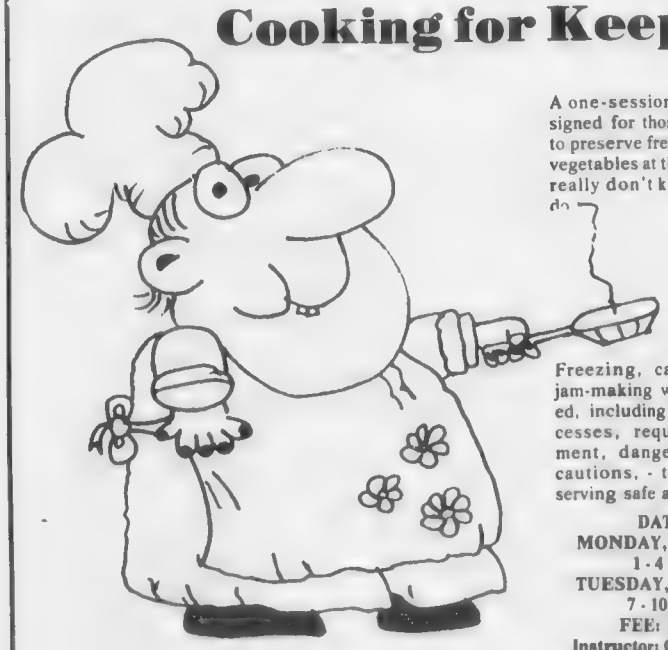

The bride's mother wore a long gown of nylon in blue, with an orchid corsage. The groom's parents were unfortunately unable to attend due to illness.

A reception and banquet followed at the St. Albert Community Hall for 130 guests. Mr. John Lindley acted as master of ceremonies, and Bill Bots, uncle of the bride proposed the toast to the bride.

At the reception, about 197 friends and relatives danced to the music of the Rusty Nails. Out of town guests included Mrs. A. Bots, the bride's grandmother, of Holland.

The young couple will make their home in Edmonton, after returning from a honeymoon in Lake Louise and Banff

Senior Citizens News

Submitted by Community Services

At the card party held on July 20, the ladies' first prize was won by Dorothy Newman while Louise Borle and Ksenia Skrobot shared the consolation prize. The first prize in the men's "section" was won by Ed Borle and, as with the ladies, there was a tie for the consolation prize between James Hagan and Leon Szuba.

Senior citizens who are newcomers or visitors to St. Albert will be made welcome at the Centre (north of the curling rink) on Tuesdays at 1:30 p.m., when cards and bingo are played on alternate days - cards on August 2 and bingo on August 9.

Seniors who have recently moved to St. Albert and are interested in knowing about the Senior Citizens' Club should phone the president, Dan Richardson, at 459-6229. Or alternatively, they may want to see the Newsletter which was recently sent to all members. If you phone Dorothy Smith, the Editor, at 459-7638 she will arrange for you to have a copy.

The "Almost New" Shop will be open at the Centre from 1 - 4 p.m. on Saturday, July 30 when there will be all kinds of bargains to be picked up. Bernie Vaugeois will be glad of help in setting up shop on Friday afternoon (anytime after 1 p.m.), on Saturday when the shop is open and on the following Monday for clearing away.

Wednesday, August 3 is the day of the next bus trip. This time the outing is to be a surprise package - a trip to who-knows-where. Well, someone knows - Russell Naves, who is in charge of travel arrangements for the Club. Seniors wanting to go should do three things - phone Lily Szuba at 459-8809 and get their names on the list (and it's a case of first come, first served); be at the Centre at 1 p.m. on August 3 and bring a lunch in case it's needed. Before the bus leaves, Russell will tell the travellers what time they will be back at the Centre.

There will be the usual Thursday lunch on July 28 at the Centre, provided through the Meals on Wheels program for a limited number. Any senior citizen or anyone knowing a senior who would benefit from a lunch at the Centre should phone Hettie Blades at 459-4756 or Pat Gray at 459-7476.

Auto tour guide available

The availability of Travel Alberta's newest publication, "Auto Tour Guide" was announced recently by Bob Dowling, minister of Alberta business development and tourism.

Listing 45 auto adventure tours, Auto Tour Guide is available upon request from Travel Alberta's information centres, by mail to any Travel Alberta office, or by telephone. Six one-week long tours are described, as well as 39 one-day long ones.

Each of the tours originates from a major Alberta centre and a sketch map is included with each tour. Routes for the week-long trips have been selected so that there is accommodation and campgrounds along the way. These longer trips range from 500 to 700 miles round trip, with recommendations on what to see on the route.

THE CITY OF St. Albert

NOTICE

TO BRITISH SUBJECTS

RE MUNICIPAL AND SCHOOL BOARD ELECTIONS

The Alberta Legislature has passed major amendments to both the Municipal and School Election Acts in that all electors must now be Canadian citizens. In particular, this means that British subjects will not be allowed to vote at the Municipal and School Board elections to be held on October 19 this year irregardless of the fact that they were eligible to vote in previous years. It is, therefore, suggested that those British subjects wishing to vote at the Municipal and School Board elections as well as future Federal and Provincial elections should immediately file their applications for Canadian citizenship at Citizen Registration, 9828 - 104 Avenue, Edmonton.

A person is qualified to vote as an elector if he/she is of the full age of 18 years and; is a Canadian citizen and; has resided in Alberta for six consecutive months immediately preceding nomination day and is resident in the municipality on nomination day.

NEW HOME CERTIFICATION PROGRAM OF ALBERTA

WHO LOST THE GAME?

Behold a ball team went forth to play ball. Just as the umpire was saying, "Batter Up" the catcher for the home team arrived and took his place. The centre fielder didn't arrive until the end of the first inning and the second baseman didn't arrive until the second inning. The first baseman didn't show up at all, but later sent his regrets and said that he had to go to a chicken dinner at Aunt Mary's. The third baseman likewise failed to come to the game, having been up late the night before and desired to spend the day in bed. The left fielder felt need to visit another ball game across town. The shortstop was present but left his glove at home. Two of the substitute fielders were away on a little weekend trip and couldn't make it. But they were there in spirit.

Verily, when the pitcher went into the box, he looked around for his teammates, and lo, his heart was heavy, for their places were empty. But the game was announced and the visitors were there in the stands, and there was nothing to do but to pitch the ball and hope for the best.

So the pitcher tightened his belt and stepped into the box and did his best, to put the ball over the plate. But he was not at his best, for he had to serve as pitcher, first baseman. There were loud boos from the stands while the home team was badly beaten. It was a disgrace to the noble game of baseball. When the absent members of the defeated team heard that their team lost, a decision was made to get a new pitcher. But who lost the Game.

Utilities promote energy saving conservation

Alberta's electric utilities are doing something about the wise and efficient use of electrical energy. Calgary Power, together with Alberta Power, Edmonton Power and the City of Calgary electric system, are co-sponsors of a program to reduce energy waste in hotels and motels in Alberta. The program is being instituted with strong support from the Alberta Hotel and Motel Association.

"The Hotel Association wholly endorses the program that the four Alberta utilities have undertaken to save energy in our industry. Three weeks ago in Calgary at our annual conference we had two speakers on the conservation of energy and our members were made fully aware of the program "Switch Off," and I am sure they will all co-operate to the fullest in the program,"said Walter Procter, representative, Alberta Hotel Association.

Mirror stickers and desk cards with the message "switch off" are being distributed to hotels and motels throughout the province. The stickers and cards, designed for display in guest rooms, encourage visitors to cut down on the unnecessary use of electricity by switching off all power operated devices before leaving their rooms, for an extended period of time.

Participation in the program is at the discretion of each hotel/motel owner or manager.

Historical vignette south with Evangeline

Evangeline has always been regarded as a Canadian figure - at least by Canadians. Not so south of the border where Americans living in Louisiana claim her as one of their own. The American history and the Acadian people met in 1765 when several thousand Acadians chose exile rather than swear allegiance to the British crown. Thus began in Nova Scotia "Le Grand Derangement." With their homes burned, their dead left behind, these Acadians were unmercifully herded into overcrowded ships. After weeks of suffering, they were cast ashore in ports along the Atlantic coast from Maine to Georgia. They were discharged in arbitrary groups without regard to family ties or friendships - alien in a strange land. The majority eventually made their way to Louisiana, then a French colony, where their own language was spoken and their religion practiced and respected. The betrothed couple, Emmeline Labiche (Evangeline) and Louis Arceneaux (Gabriel), had been put on different ships. Neither had any idea where the other was, though both made their way to Poste des Attakaps in Louisiana. Louis arrived first. Emmeline - with her wedding gown still carefully treasured in her small trunk - arrived three years later, only to learn that Gabriel, believing her lost forever, had married someone else. This final heartbreak, after all the weary years, was too great a shock. Dazed and broken, she lingered a few months at the home of the widow Borda in St. Martinville, Louisiana, before she died. Tradition says that she is buried behind the Catholic Church.

In the land of the bayous and the oak trees many stories abound on Evangeline and the Acadians. The most celebrated one is Longfellow's poem on Evangeline. A more humble poem was written by a young Acadian girl by the name of Amy Boudreau. It was discovered in 1955 and later published by the Consulat General de France in New Orleans, Louisiana. Here are the opening lines.

I ponder the question this star-strewn night:
Of what? Of when? Of whom should I write?

I would write of some happening - something fine.
That has taken place in this land of mine.

Something outstanding and set apart
That stirs the pulse and touches the heart.

Something that happened once long ago,
But lingers on like afterglow.

Must I tell how we conquered a wilderness?
Of our years of battle, and strife and stress?

How we leveled forests, and builded homes?
And churches with steeples and spires and domes?

How we planted fields and built up flocks?
And sailed our ships to strange, far docks?

I could tell of courage and faith through the years -
Things to inspire you, or move you to tears.

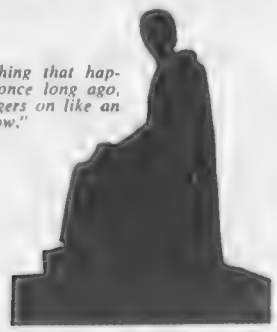

It is hard to choose, but the choice is mine -
That is what makes my country so fine!

In my freedom to write as I choose, I rejoice:

So, I'll tell of a people
once given sad choice:
The choice of renouncing French citizenship,
And swearing allegiance to England's king,
Or leaving their homes, their lands, all ties
That tilling and building and living can bring.

What's in a house: Foundation and basement

By Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation
[first of a four-part series]

Many people don't know exactly what goes into the building of a house. They know there is a roof, and a basement and walls, but they don't know how or why they are built as they are.

This first in a series of articles is intended to give you, the home buyer, an insight into the basics of house construction. Whether you are having a home built to your specifications or are buying one ready made, you should know something about the construction methods.

The first phase of construction is the excavation work. Foundation work is started soon after.

The first parts of the foundation are the footings, the wider sections at the base of the foundation wall. They are designed to support the weight of the house. The size of the footings is determined by the weight of the finished house and the prevailing soil conditions. For example, a house built on a rock base could have narrower footings than one built on soft ground.

Once the footings are in place, the foundation walls are erected usually using concrete blocks or concrete placed into forms. Next, to keep water from seeping into the basement the foundation walls are damp-proofed. A tar-like liquid is spread on the outside surface of the foundation from the footings to ground level. To carry excess ground water away from the foundation, drain tiles are laid next to the footings at the bottom of the excavation hole. These "weeping tiles" carry excess ground water to the sewer system.

It is also important that the elevation of the house is such that surface water will drain away from the structure.

When all these steps are completed, material from the excavation is replaced against the foundation walls in a process called back-filling. However, back-filling should not be done until the floor joists are installed over the basement. This floor structure braces the foundation walls against the inward pressure of the fill.

Backfilling must be done with care since a haphazard job could damage the damp-roofing of the walls, or misalign the weeping tiles. The soil used for the backfilling should be free of debris and should be compacted in layers. Frozen soil should never be used because the ground will settle too much when it thaws.

Most people like the added space a basement provides and for this reason most houses are built on this way.

The floor is the last part of a basement to be constructed. It is laid once the roof is in place so the concrete can cure, protected from the elements. Sewer and water lines linking the house to the mains servicing the neighborhood are put in prior to the laying of the basement floor.

Not all houses have basements though. Some houses are built on a concrete slab or over a crawl space.

Houses built on a slab have all services for the plumbing, such as sewer and water pipes, electrical and heating systems, built directly into the slab. Before the concrete for the slab is poured, several inches of gravel is spread over the entire area to be covered by concrete. Electrical conduits, plumbing pipes and heating ducts are then set in place.

This work is inspected and, if the work is satisfactory, the concrete is poured. The ends of pipes and conduits will be sticking out of the concrete for the final service connections to the house. Slab foundations are protected from moisture by tough plastic material laid on the ground just before the concrete is poured.

A house over a crawl space has a foundation constructed in a similar way to a house with a basement but, there are three basic differences.

Access to a crawl space is generally through a hatch in the floor; the crawl space is well ventilated and the floor is provided with a ground cover.

When the foundations are completed and have acquired enough strength to support major loads, the framing of the house begins. Next in this series, we will discuss the construction of the upper floors.

Teens "Hot spots"

By Corey Torgness
Supervisor

There will be an informal game of baseball for teens every Monday evening. Just bring along your baseball glove anytime from 7 p.m. on to the Grandin Teen Centre (Grandin Clubhouse, beside the swimming pool).

A bike hike was scheduled for Wednesday, July 27 departing from Grandin at 11 a.m. and on the evening of the same day we will be going in to Edmonton to see a movie. The free transportation will be leaving from Grandin Clubhouse at 6 p.m., just bring money for admission to the movie. (If you read this in time, you just might make it!)

Arrangements are being made to have movies (free!) shown at Grandin Teen Centre on Thursday afternoons. More about that later.

There are still two or three tickets left for the KISS concert on Friday, July 29 at 8 p.m. The lucky teens who get them ($8 per ticket) should get to the Grandin Centre any afternoon - but they'd need to hustle!

All the activities above are at Grandin and this will be the case for at least the evening activities until the Teen Centre in the basement of the Day Care Centre is completed.

SAMBA Mosquito and Bantam baseballers grab runner-up spots

There's so much to talk about - let's get along with it as we look at last weekend's proceedings in St. Albert Minor Baseball Association activity:

MOSQUITO DIVISION

It takes a pretty fair team to slap our mosquito baseball reps around.

General manager Vic Hogan and his Belmont Credit Union Bombers found one last Saturday and Sunday in the tourney at Lloydminster.

That "pretty fair team" hailed from the province of Saskatchewan - North Battleford, to be exact. Winners of their own provincial crown in 1976, they also took home the 1977 tourney trophy by downing the BCU Bombers Saturday 12 - 5 and 12 - 2 in Sunday's final.

Actually, the Bombers from St. Albert city including their terrific pitching trio of Stan Black, Brent Sedgewick, and Kent Lafavre - gave an excellent account of themselves. The 1976 Lloydminster tourney champs, Saskatoon (Sask.) Tigers were caged 7-6 and 5-3 by the Bomber crew before it was over.

Special recognition goes to catcher Forrest Tillapaugh who belted out seven hits and picked off several base runners to lead the sharp Bomber attack.

BEAVER DIVISION

Neil's Trailer King Beaver reps had a good day and a bad day at the Zone 5 ABA double knockout get-together in a nicely run tournament at Riviere Qui Barre the past weekend.

The good day came on Saturday - a lone win over the eventual Zone champs, Spruce Grove. With Kelly Page on the hill for the opener, the St. Albert Beavers outscored the Grovers 21-16. Losses to Spruce Grove and St. Francis, forced the host club, Riviere Qui Barre to become the first team eliminated from the four-team bash.

Sunny Sunday was "not so good" for the Beaver Trailer Kings. General manager Pat Keller pitching plans were upset, somewhat, when it was learned that pitcher's could not be used in consecutive games. St. Francis upset St. Albert in the second contest and Spruce Grove polished them off in the third.

In order to capture the Zone 5 bunting, Spruce Grove played two games with St. Francis and won them both. The second - for the championship - was taken 22-21 ... a good indication of the closeness of the competition.

BANTAM DIVISION

The outlook wasn't brilliant for the weekend's Zone 5 playoffs, leading to the Zone 5 championship, on Saturday morning.

Mission Park - in some places - were under four inches of water following Friday night's downpour.

However, with the aid of shovels, rakes, manpower and a barrel of gasoline -- the diamond was put into great shape. Thanks, particularly, to the Neil's Trailer King coaching staff and the Bantam Men's Club, headed by Jim Gleason and Mike Basaraba.

Here's what happened at the ABA Zone 5 excitingly successful semi-final showdown at Mission Field.

St. Albert 14 Spruce Grove 4

The pride and joy of Parkland County - league champs Spruce Grove, entered the St. Albert meet unbeaten. This was soon changed when Dave Reiniger's Bantam Trailer Kings ran over the Grovers 14-4 behind the seven hit pitching of Larry Schuchard.

SG starter Greg Rietz lasted but three innings allowing eight runs and 10 hits along the way. Brian Beurerlein, in relief, was nicked for six more tallies and five hits in the remaining innings. While Doug Rechlo nailed the only triple of the fray, Brent Biollo and Blain Malanchen batted four for four for the Kings. Grant Fuhr hit two for two for Spruce Grove.

St. Francis 8 St. Albert 0

One of the finest bantam pitching performances seen in St. Albert in many years - as hurled by Kerry Meyers of St. Francis proved costly for the winners.

Fireball specialist Meyers apparently "threw his arm away" in gaining an 8-0 shutout for his mates from the Oilfield area. Examinations at the Sturgeon General Hospital Sunday afternoon, after attempting to pitch again, revealed Meyers was suffering from a pulled muscle in his right arm. It was suggested he curtail mound duty for, at least, a month - if not, a year.

Meyers was in complete command throughout the entire tilt. Lorne Basaraba and Blain Malanchen were the only St. Albert batters to reach first base safely on hits ... as the injured right hander fanned 13 Trailer Kings.

St. Francis 18 Spruce Grove 5

Two roundtrippers - by Meyers of St. Francis and Fuhr of Spruce Grove highlighted a rather dull game between Spruce Grove and St. Francis.

Coach Han Meyers was somewhat surprised that his charges had such an easy time blasting Spruce Grove ace, Grant Fuhr for 19 hits and a total of 18 runs.

Fuhr, by the way, is a "permanent" pickup player of St. Francis' having played for them during the past two years in exhibition and provincial playdowns. Obviously, he had little to lose by the defeat.

Spruce Grove 6 St. Albert 5

The tournament decider was the Sunday morning engagement - a return match between home city, St. Albert and Spruce Grove.

Starter Gerry Gleason, before giving way to reliefer Matt Wheatley, gave up five runs and seven hits in three innings of work. Wheatley was outstanding as he set the Parkland bantam champs down in order for the next three innings.

The score was locked up at five-all when Troy Shellemy scored after a walk in St. Albert's half of the seventh. Spruce Grove claimed the contest when Greg Rietz nailed Wheatley for a bases-loaded drive to left field. For the bantam Trailer Kings it was their second and final playoff loss.

St. Albert 6 St. Francis 4

Before a large and enthusiastic cheering section (which included the entire delegation from Spruce Grove) Neil's Trailer Kings of St. Albert hung a 6-4 upset on the heavily favored "Saints" from St. Francis down Warburg way.

Lorne Mertz, starting for St. Francis, was knocked from the mound in the fourth frame as Doug Rechlo and Larry Schuchard struck for a pair of doubles. Greg Reiniger drew a walk and came home on a pinch hit bingle by Dave Joliffe. Kerry Meyers painfully struck out Brent Biollo to end the Kings flare up. At the end of five innings, St. Albert led 4-0. Not to be outdone, the Zone 5

St. Albert tennis players in Alberta Games

St. Albert residents dominated the recent Zone 5 tennis trials for the Alberta Summer Games and a total of 13 St. Albert participants will represent the Zone at Red Deer from September 2 to 5.

The Junior team is made up of Dorothy Kirk, Karen Dunik, Janet Neeser, Tony Morris, Chris Odinga and Kevin Jackson. In the open category, Sheena Thomas of Jasper, Cynthia Sage and Judy Wood will compete along with Reiner Sattler, Lloyd Scherer and Phil Kemp. Betty Ontkean and Bob Sage will play in the Junior Veterans Mixed Doubles competition.

A total of 24 tennis enthusiasts took part in the trials and although the majority were from St. Albert, the communities of Fort Saskatchewan, Legal, Spruce Grove and Jasper were also represented.

Local golfer scores hole-in-one

Brent Lewis of 31 Glenwood Crescent, St. Albert had the thrill of a lifetime July 21 as he sank a five iron shot on the 11th hole of the Sturgeon Valley Golf Club.

Unfortunately Brent was golfing by himself and no one around witnessed the hole-in-one which will not be recorded.

Brent is only 14 years old.

Juniors travel to Brooks for Provincial finals

St. Albert Juniors fastball club, winners of the Northern Alberta Provincial "B" playoffs in St. Albert two weeks ago, will travel to Brooks this weekend to take part in the Provincial finals.

The double knockout tournament has teams from Brooks, Edmonton and St. Albert entered.

Brooks and Edmonton play at 1 p.m. Saturday with the loser playing St. Albert at 4 p.m.

Semi-final play will take part Sunday morning.

Playboys undefeated in league play

Stony Plain Playboys won their 22nd straight game in Sturgeon Valley Men's Fastball League action Monday night with a 3-2 win over LBH Builders.

St. Albert A's remained in second place with a default win over Alexander Braves who failed to show.

Devon Stingers hammered Onoway Royals 18-3 to hold onto third spot while Stony Plain Kings remained in fourth place losing 7-6 to the Spruce Grove K.C.

Calahoo Chiefs scored four runs in the seventh inning to win 8-7 over the St. Albert Juniors who will be in Brooks this weekend for the Alberta Provincial Jr. "B" championships.

Spruce Grove Total Sound won their second game of the season with a 7-4 win over the slumping Spruce Grove Panthers.

The four top teams will play for the "A" cup while the next four teams will play for the "B" division championship.

Rain-out games have been rescheduled for this week and most teams have between two and four games to catch up before the schedule ends August 2nd.

The first place team plays the third and second meets fourth in a best of three series in both divisions.

favorites began to rally their forces in the top of the sixth. Mertz doubled to centre. Schmidt walked, Stein singled a run across as starting St. Albert pitcher Doug Rechlo began to feel the pressure of battle. Meyers walked and McBain tripled. All this activity resulted in two more markers for St. Francis. Rechlo, at this point, went to left field and Larry Schuchard was brought to the hill. The first batter was Brain Hoshovski who drilled a hard hit ball into centre scoring McBain. Dwight Bittner reached first on a fielder's choice. Ivan Gellert and Dave Bittner grounded out to close out the inning with no further scoring and the score evened up.

Then, St. Albert's bantam Kings went to work on St. Francis relief flinger, Hoshowski. Two runs scored on Ron Brisson's walk, Dave Joliffe's singleton and Brent Biollo's well-placed blow, to give the Kings a well deserved 6-4 advantage approaching the bottom of the seventh.

Schuchard retired the side after some very sharp fielding by Joliffe, Balog and Wheatley. He struck out Doug Stein, hard hitting catcher, to end the game.

The St. Francis loss was only their second of the season. Their total run production of four was their lowest in two years.

Coach Meyer was scratching his head in disbelief during the 50 minute break between games.

St. Francis 7 Spruce Grove 0

Coaches Fred Rietz and Bob Fuhr were most unhappy after their Spruce Grove baseballers "rolled over and played dead" against St. Francis in the sixth and final game of the two-day zone semi-final affair.

The 7-0 shutout win gave the St. Francis, pitcher short, team the playoff championship. Brian Hoshowski got credit for the victory. Grant Fuhr, against his "second" team, was ineffective both on the mound and at bat - getting no hits and drawing two walks. At the same time, allowing seven runs off nine big hits.

ELSEWHERE ...

St. Francis will host Fawcett's Tigers for the Zone 5 championship next weekend. Fawcett had an easy set against Riviere Qui Barre Saturday taking two straight 22-4 and 24-5 ... a mismatch to say the least.

Congratulations to pitcher Doug Rechlo - in his encounter with St. Francis. For five stanzas, Rechlo allowed only two hits and three runs before retiring in the sixth.

We hear the Mosquito parents and followers and fans of the Belmont Bombers had a neat camping weekend in the Lloydminster City Trailer Park ... we told you so!

More and more folks are finding, as we've mentioned several times ... "Diamonds are a boy's best friend" . even when you can't win for losing ...

Parent involvement in water orientation helps the young child overcome his or her fear of the water. These children certainly seem to be enjoying the first of many levels of swim instruction offered at Grosvenor Park Pool.

Billed as Black Day in July which it was until the sun came out was one of the better drag racing cards of the year. Shirley "Cha Cha" Muldowney in town to increase her lead for No. 1 spot in top fuel dragsters didn't have much luck as the King of drag racing Jerry Ruth disposed of the Queen in a best of three match race. While Ruth took top honors in the top fuel event Terry Capp of Edmonton and Hank Johnson of Marysville, Washington didn't continue their match race as Capp was out with two burned head gaskets and Johnson left with mechanical problems. Also, for the first time in Canada, were the rocket powered funny cars with Fred Goeske of Detroit outrunning Ed Ballinger with a run of 5.18 seconds or nearly 280 mph for the quarter mile. As an added feature the wheel standers were present much to the delight of the crowd. The ¼ mile sparklers hind wheeled it in front of the stands for four or five passbyes. Next major event is August 3 for the Funnycar Nationals fielding 24 cars.

These animals include antlerless mule deer, antlerless elk, Camp Wainwright deer, S416 and 418 male elk, non-trophy sheep, goat, antelope (trophy and non-trophy), antlerless white tailed deer, and Long Lake male moose.

This year, as in past years, a limited number of special licences are available on a random draw basis. Application forms for the draw are available only at Fish and Wildlife Division offices. With the exception of trophy antelope, these licences are restricted to Alberta residents.

The licences, fees and deadline dates are as follows:

Antelope (non-resident) - $25., August 10, 1977.

Deer (Antlerless mule) - $5., September 10, 1977.

Deer (Antlerless white-tailed) - $3., September 10, 1977.

Deer (Camp Wainwright) - $5., August 10, 1977.

Elk (Antlerless) - $5., July 30, 1977.

Goat - $10., July 30, 1977.

Moose (Long Lake) - $5., September 10, 1977.

Sheep (non-trophy) - $5., July 30, 1977.

All applications must be accompanied by the prescribed fee (certified cheque or money order) and must be postmarked no later than midnight of the specified deadline date. Early mailing of applications is recommended because draws begin about 10 days after the specified deadline dates.

The new regulations contain several important changes and additions and are now available from Fish and Wildlife division offices throughout the province. They will be available from Treasury Branches and private licence vendors later this summer.

Cycle road race championship

An unusual ribbon-type course through Edmonton's North Saskatchewan River Valley has been laid out for the 1977 Canadian Cycling Championships road race.

The race starts on University Avenue just west of 114 Street, proceeds west to Saskatchewan Drive, down the hill leading to the North Saskatchewan River, across the valley floor, Groat Road Bridge and Groat Road before embarking on an incline of 120 feet over a distance of almost a mile to 107 Avenue.

On the 107 Avenue overpass the cyclists will make two left turns, swing around back down the same hill, across Groat Road and the valley floor, into a circular route around Hawrelak Park.

As the participants leave the Park, they bend into a 180 degree right turn and climb 130 feet in the next three-quarters of a mile back to University Avenue and the Start/Finish line, where they will make a hairpin left hand turn at University Avenue just before 114 Street to complete the lap.

Lap Distance - 7.8 miles; Race Distance - Men - 15 laps, 117 miles; Women - 5 laps, 39 miles. Start Times: Sunday, July 31: Men - 8 a.m., Women - 8:02 a.m.

Baseball fans in St. Albert were treated to some excellent action last weekend with the playing of the Northern Alberta Zone playoffs between St. Albert, St. Francis [Warburg] and Spruce Grove. St. Francis won it all with some very fine games with St. Albert the runner-up.

CBC provides coverage of Canada Games

The Spirit of '77 is in St. John's, Newfoundland, site of the 1977 Canada Summer Games.

More than 3,000 young Canadian athletes from the 10 provinces and two territories will converge on St. John's in August and compete in 16 events. CBC Television will be present at all 16 events to bring you the color and excitement, the joy and the heartache of keen competition.

Wednesday, the start of Klondike Days, saw a small crowd on hand as Terry Cunningham and Wilf Lalonde tied in total points of the evening share of the Klondike Cup and a purse of $100 which was sponsored by the Trophy Bank. [In the Pacemaker trophy dashes] winning the stock class was Terry Cunningham, while Bob Boyko took the Street Stock event and Lloyd Anderson the claimer. Tonight's events will feature super modified, stock and street stock at Westwind Oval.

CBC Television coverage begins with the opening ceremonies which are set for August 7 at 1:30 p.m. E.D.T. Master of ceremonies will be well known national CBC broadcaster and former Newfoundlander, Harry Brown.

CBC's senior English sports commentator Ted Reynolds will anchor the CBC television coverage. Ted is no stranger to viewers in Canada, in fact to sports viewers around the world.

Ted will have working with him a team of able sports broadcasters including: Steve Cooney, Doug Saunders, Brian Williams, Steve Armitage and Scott Oake. The Reynolds' team will use the finest technical equipment available, including some of the video equipment which was used last year during CBC's massive Olympics coverage.

As the Canada Games begin with the opening celebrations, CBC-TV will offer in-depth coverage live and on videotape of the following sports events; water polo, swimming, diving, track and field, soccer, baseball, softball, tennis, water skiing, canoeing and field hockey. Telecasts will include highlights of the remaining deciplines including lacrosse, cycling, sailing, archery, shooting and interviews with participants made available throgh use of the VR-3000 portable video-tape recorders.

"The Spirit of '77" is in St. John's now, and in August that same spirit will engulf all Canada as CBC provides the most extensive coverage yet of any Canada Summer Games, from the colorful opening ceremonies on August 7 through to the climactic closing ceremonies on August 19 (6:30 to 7:30 p.m. E.D.T.).

Let's go Boating

Boating is one of the most exciting and satisfying sports but it pays to do it safely There's no need to take chances when a little care and caution will make every outing a pleasant experience

"Nobody likes to be lectured about safety," says a spokesman for the Allied Boating Association of Canada. "But the wise sailor learns to accept and adopt basic safety rules for his own protection and that of his passengers and fellow boaters."

The early spring boating season presents the greatest hazards. New owners are anxious to try out their boats and may rush headlong into trouble without having mastered the operation of their craft or by ignoring rules and regulations

Canadian waters can be chilly A person won't last very long in cold water and heavy clothing can quickly drag you down

There is an equipment check list available for every size of boat. This information is contained in the publication Boating Safety Guide, which may be obtained free from the Federal Ministry of Transport, or the Allied Boating Association of Canada, Suite #210, 4800 Dundas St. West, Islington, Ontario M9A 1B1, telephone (416) 236-2497. Here are some basic rules

First, a government-approved flotation aid is required for each person aboard. In a boat 18 feet in length or smaller, these can be a lifejacket, personal flotation device or a cushion. These items should be stored in a dry, accessible area, and not used for other purposes such as fenders. Lifejackets should be worn at all times—particularly by children.

A fire extinguisher is a must for every boat with an inboard motor and larger types of sailing craft. It should be held securely by a bracket and located near the steering position. It should also be checked a couple of times each season to ensure that it has adequate pressure. If it is of the dry powder type, shake it to make sure the powder is loose and not caked.

Most of today's power equipment runs without too many problems, but it is a good idea to have some basic repair items stored and secured aboard in a dry container, such as a large plastic garbage bag fastened at the top. These emergency items should include a tool kit with pliers, wrenches, screw drivers, spark plugs and wrench, cotter pins, and often a spare prop. The engine manual should be easily available at all times and stored in a waterproof case.

Operate your boat in a conservative manner. Take care not to jump the wake of other boats and stay away from areas of turbulence. Don't put a heavy hand on the throttle. Keep your speed at a rate where your boat feels steady, comfortable and controlled. Remember that debris will be at the peak during the spring. Look for and remove deadheads, driftwood and other navigational hazards whenever possible

Of course, it's an absolute rule to never overload your boat. When you are opening up a cottage or camp reached by boat, there is a temptation to shorten the number of trips by piling in people and supplies. Don't do it. Use safe loading limits. These are posted in boats 12 feet in length and over

Of course any new boater should learn the "rules of the road". Know all the necessary navigational regulations required to operate your craft in a safe manner. Don't guess. There are plenty of books and information sources readily available on the subject. So "learn the ropes" before you cast off.

Also remember that alcohol and boats don't mix. As captain of your craft, confine your drinking to dockside

A safe boating holiday is a happy one. Careful cruising!

People to have bigger say in Sturgeon School affairs

The Sturgeon School Division #24 will contact the provincial Department of Education-likely before July 25 - with a recommendation to increase that board's representation from four to seven.

The decision to communicate the desired increase on the board was taken after three recent public meetings and also because of significant population growth in Bon Accord, Gibbons and the Horse Hill areas of Sturgeon.

Bon Accord has grown from 332 to 916 people in the period 1971-76.

There have also been high growth rates in the Evergreen Mobile Home park.

The meetings held in the Camilla school, Namao school and July 20 in the Bon Accord school only drew out 10 members of the public between them; the rest of the attendance was made up of the trustees and school division officials themselves: three provincial government officials took in two of the meetings July 18 and 19.

But a letter from the school division to the Department of Education points out there was little or no negative reaction to the proposals to give more representation for the people on the Sturgeon board.

Sturgeon school division trustee Harold Paul told the meeting, "we have so much apathy in government at all levels - but there are a lot of people who would like to get their feet wet."

In spite of the apathy, Mr. Paul said the government had been encouraging the meetings on increasing board representation "right along the province."

But Mr. Paul also said that "bigger is not always best," referring to Edmonton and its school board representation system.

He said, "I feel proud of

Legal boy dies in crash

A five year old Legal boy was killed last week when the truck in which he was a passenger overturned.

RCMP say Ken Patrick Mahe was in the pickup truck with his father, who was driving the vehicle through a field after cattle when the accident occurred about 12:30 p.m.

The boy was thrown from the window and the truck rolled over landing on him.

Big drug haul near Namao

One hundred and thirteen pounds of marijuana were seized by RCMP near Namao last week (July 19).

Following this, two Edmonton men were charged with possession of a narcotic, allegedly for purposes of trafficking, contrary to the Narcotics Control Act.

The two men charged are 24 year old Glen Dumont and 22 year old Barry Kucy both of Edmonton.

They appeared in St. Albert Provincial Court July 20 and trial was set for October 20.

MARGARETTE J. ATKINSON, writer of so many interesting feature articles for the Gibbons section of the Gazette is seen here getting in on K-Days fun, dressed in Klondike attire.

Entertainment tops at Legal Fete Au Village

By Bonnie Pelletier

Legal's Fete au Village promises top entertainment again this year at the Citadel Jamboree on July 31 at the arena. Joanne Martineau and her group Main Street will be on hand to entertain with a variety of musical selections.

Joanne Martineau is a bilingual singer who has been singing professionally since age 12. Ms. Martineau has played in various clubs and cabarets in Western Canada and formerly sang with the Starlit Band. She accompanied Bob Ruzicka and Gabrielle Bugesud on their Northern Review Tour in 1975 and for the past three years she has appeared on the television programs New Class, On Stage, Ian McLean Special, Spotlight and Sugar Beat.

Main Street accompanied artists at this year's Cabane a Sucre for their show "Un Printemps Pas Comme Les Autre." Their most recent activity with the French community was the televisin community was the television show "Visages," on which they appeared as guests.

$165,000 street program for Legal

The Village of Legal is discussing a $165,000 street paving program which could be completed by fall, before freeze-up.

The program and the method of financing it was discussed by Legal council Monday night, Mayor Art Morin told the Gazette.

The program could be financed by front footage or through special general assessment, the mayor said.

Last month the village just completed a new sidewalk program for main street and that street was also significantly improved last year.

Right now the council seems still locked in the discussions on what route the financing of the project will take.

Work on other street improvements will be aimed at better dust control as well as repaving.

Mayor Morin says one method under consideration on the street paving program is "coal-mix" which is guaranteed for 15 years, as opposed to another method guaranteed for five years.

Meet our "feature" author

Dressed in her Klondyke finery, we introduce to the readers of the Gazette, Margarette J. Atkinson, author of the stories, readers have been seeing in the "Gibbons news section."

Born in Winnipeg, Manitoba, Margarette "came west" with her parents, who were both employees of the CNR. Her mother was a cook on the Bridge and Building gang. Her father was a foreman on the B. and B.

Bon Accord mayor fights to equalize recreation costs

A dispute seems to be brewing between Bon Accord and the MD of Sturgeon on better funding for local recreation.

The village of Bon Accord donation to the local recreation board was over $3,000 in 1976 compared to the $342 received from the MD of Sturgeon.

However it may be pointed out that the MD of Sturgeon pays the "lion's share" for regional recreation in the Sturgeon area, while all other groups pay 2.2 mills.

Bon Accord Mayor Ken Fearnley says it would be better if Bon Accord could depend on a set amount from the MD.

He feels that the new recreation grant system which is supposed to allow different regions to catch up on their allocations is inadequate.

"They give an even break one year then not another," he explains.

He also complained that recreation issues were getting more complicated "all the time, there doesn't seem to be any overall direction."

While the MD 6 Sturgeon is looking at the suggestions from Bon Accord, no answer has come from them to Bon Accord yet, the mayor says.

The recreation issue is compounded with rural expansion in the Bon Accord area. Mayor Fearnley says all acreage subdivisions contribute to the recreational and education (funding) problem.

To this end, a motion was passed at the July 12 meeting of Bon Accord council stating that that body will consider approval of single subdivision proposals from the Edmonton Regional Planning Commission.

But it will not consider applications for multi-parcel developments.

the kind of representation the people of Sturgeon have had ... when we go to seven, we may not get the same team approach."

He later added that there might be difficulties in getting people to come forward.

"You could be well known in Bon Accord but not in Gibbons, [therefore] it will be difficult to get people to come forward and present themselves," he said.

MAYOR OF BON ACCORD SPEAKS

Bon Accord Mayor Ken Fearnley said, "I do not see how you operate with only four members with a population as large as that," adding, "we increased our council from three to five two years ago, I suppose the school (division) is the same."

Giving her rationale for the proposed increases in the size of the board, trustee Lois Hole said, "this is really the only answer we can give, the decision is growing."

Bon Accord resident Rose Ruth said if the increases were needed, "they are needed, it is as simple as that."

After the meeting trustee Olga Bilecki told the Gazette the new boundary lines for the division "are ours" and added that "school attendance areas are not determined by these boundaries."

gang. Later he became a pumpman taking over Gibbons and Edwand water tanks in the late 1920s.

Margarette attended sch.-ool at Gibbons and belonged to CGIT (Canadian Girls In Training) attending Sunday School and joined in with all of the activities possible.

With two elder sisters and two younger brothers, life was always full of adventure.

She later married at Nanaimo, B.C., on February 14, 1941 where her husband's regiment were stationed, during the second world war.$

Her mother and brother Jim live in Gibbons. "I'm glad I grew up there in those late 20s and 30s, says our author.

"Growing up amongst such nice people made me want to write about it all!" I know, many who know me, are making up scrapbooks in which to place my stories." And this makes her feel very glad. Because many youngsters of today (with all of the conveniences) miss the chance to make do.

Now, new residents of Gibbons have a chance to see their "story" writer. And to know, what their town was like in the past.

"People in those days had so little, but gave so very much themselves, sharing and caring."

By Marg Bentz

With summer holidays in full swing many students are anxious to make a little money and keep busy during the summer. If you are in need of a babysitter, painter, gardener or any helper be sure and call Sherry Gibeault at the Hire a Student office at 939-4318.

Sincere sympathies are extended to the Art Lalonde family on the loss of mother and wife Agnes.

Morinville Electronics Centre Ltd., had their grand opening last week and were very pleased with the response from customers. The draw for the many door prizes was held on Friday, July 22 at 9 p.m. Congratulations are extended to the following winners: Admiral TV - Dave Short of Morinville; Toshiba Clock Radio - Art Nesbitt of Morinville; Tapes or Records - Diane Arcand of Edmonton, Zenith AM/FM Radio - Mary Arcand of Alcomdale. Walter and Maryanne Enright would like to thank everyone for their kind wishes and encouragement on the grand opening of Morinville Electronics Centre Ltd.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Bray and son Scott arrived in Morinville this week from Balikpapan, Indonesia. They are visiting with cousins Al and Marg Bentz and family. Stopping in to shop at Morinville's Super A, they were delighted to meet owner George Chan who had also just returned from southeast Asia. Tones of "It's a small world" chimed when the travellers discovered they had all stayed at the same fabulous Grand Hotel in Taiwan.

George and Susan Chan and son Marty of Morinville "Super A" had a wonderful two week holiday visiting Hong Kong, Japan, Taiwan and Macao.

Good news to the young girls of Morinville and area. The Morinville Local Recreation Board is interested in starting a 4H sewing club. Funds are already available if there is enough interest shown from girls age 10 and up and leaders. Morinville is very fortunate that as a smaller centre it does qualify for 4H benefits. Classes would likely start in September if enough interest is shown. Please phone Rhonda Stapleton at 939-4827 for more information.

With all the fresh vegetables available at such reasonable prices be sure and stop in at the Farmers' Market which is held every Saturday from 10 a.m. until noon.

Morinville Funtimers fastball team lost a hard fought game 13-10 last Wednesday, July 20 against an Edmonton team.

Reader's co-operation in phoning or bringing in news items is greatly appreciated. Please phone 939-4145 or stop in at 9901 - 99 Avenue.

Manufacturers 2nd in tourney

On the weekend of July 9, Morinville Manufacturers senior baseball club journeyed to Bon Accord to participate in tournament play. On Saturday, the 9th, Manufacturers played the Legal Pontjacs and came away with a 10-2 victory after five innings.

With the score 2-1 in Legal's favor after the top half of the fifth inning, Morinville exploded for nine runs in their half of the inning, led by home runs by Paul Riopel and George St. Laurent.

Starting pitcher Wayne Biggs went the distance for the Manufacturers in securing the win.

Sunday afternoon saw the Manufacturers take on the Fort Saskatchewan Red Sox in a marathon game that lasted 11 innings before Morinville came out on top 8-7. O'Neil Chevalier scored the winning run on a fine bunt by Richard Gadoury after third baseman Jay Hubble hit his fourth home run of the year to tie the score at seven.

Tim Haufe got the win for the Manufacturers. The teams were even in hits and errors with nine and five respectively.

In the final on Sunday night, July 10, a tired Manufacturer ball club met the Vimy Blues and were trounced 14-6 after seven innings. Manufacturers just couldn't match Vimy's fine hitting which included five home runs out of 14 hits.

One bright spot for the Manufacturers was the continued fine play of rookie first baseman Dean Roy, who played a strong defensive game and hit a home run to raise his batting average to .313.

Losing pitcher was Dave Kryskow, with Dean Roy, Richard Gadoury and Ken Saunders in relief.

By Florence Vranas

On June 21 Chris and Gwen Knoll, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. O. Nowaselski, began a most interesting and enjoyable holiday to various countries in Europe. They flew to Holland and stayed for one week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jan Meijer in Oostzaan.

From there they travelled to Paris, Nice and on to Rome. Two days were spent in each of these cities and among other memorable places visited were the Catacombs and Pompeii. A night tour in Rome was also much enjoyed.

The group then went on to spend some time in Venice, Vienna, Salzburg, Munich and Heidelberg. Upon arriving back in Oostzaan another leisurely week was spent in Holland before leaving for home. The holiday lasted 28 wonderful days with the two couples arriving back in Canada July 18.

Calvin Vollrath has once more been successful in old time fiddling competitions this year. He won second place in the open at Onoway on June 11 and also first in the youngest. At Barrhead on July 1 he won first; on July 9 at Carrot River best in 18 years of age and under plus $100. At Lloydminster second in overall fiddling, and at Red Deer a trophy for showmanship plus $50.

He is now a member of the band, Country and Swing featuring old time music and lively rock. Congratulations Calvin.

The Cardiff Community Club held their June 28 monthly meeting at the home of Karen Saunders. At this time it was decided to hold a members and family barbecue on Sunday, August 14. The location has not yet been decided upon but the phoning committee will notify all members as soon as possible. Also club members will be selling tickets on a raffle. Two prizes will be offered with the first being a broiler oven and second a barbecue. Draw for the raffle will be made on September 26 at which time our meetings will resume after a two month recess.

Low cost fertilizer

Using sunlight as the energy source rather than expensive petroleum U.S. scientists have come up with a nitrogen fertilizer from ordinary city sewage. The large scale process involves the culturing ofalgae and water plants to product fertilizer, high protein animal feed and clean water.

The process conserves the energy required to take nitrogen out of sewage and put it back into fertilizer. Using the sun as the energy source saves an estimated $25 per capita which is the present cost of dentrification.

Cornelis - St. Jean wed

On July 2 a beautiful summer wedding was solemnized in St. Emile's Church, Legal, when Jennette Cornelis, daughter of John and Madeline Cornelis pledged her vows and exchanged rings with Roger St. Jean, son of Lorenzo and Lucienne St. Jean, before an altar beautifully decorated with baskets of gladiolus, mums and daisies. Reverend Father Grondon performed the ceremony, assisted by Wendy and Brian Cornelis as altar girl and boy. Organist was Elaine Bilodeau and soloist Marie St. Martin.

The bride looked radiant in a floor length gown of white silk organza. The high neckline at the side formed a scalloped V at the front. The bodice was trimmed with chantilly lace, embroidered with pearls and sequined with a border of pleated ruffle. The hem line was trimmed with a pleated valance that came up at the back to form a bustle. The bishop sleeve was edged with a pleated ruffle. A shoulder length scalloped edged veil was held in place by a Juliette headpiece embroidered with chantilly lace trimmed with pearls and sequens. Her only jewellery was a gold heart shaped pearl pendant and earrings, a gift of the groom.

She carried a bouquet of yellow roses. Matron of honour was Doreen Desmond, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Carmen and Doris St. Jean, sisters of the groom, flower girl was Chantal St. Jean, niece of the groom. They wore identical gowns of yellow dotted Swiss. They each carried a bouquet of daisies.

The groom looked handsome in a three piece white tuxedo with a white ruffled shirt and bow tie. His boutonniere was of yellow roses.

Attending the groom were Lyle Desmond, brother-inlaw of the bride, Leo Pelletier, friend of the groom, Melvin Cornelis, brother of the bride and Brian Van Brabant, cousin of the bride was ring bearer. They wore identical brown tuxedos, yellow shirts and brown bow ties, trimmed with a daisy boutonniere.

For her daughter's wedding the bride's mother chose a pink chiffon dress complemented by a white orchid corsage.

For her son's wedding, the groom's mother chose a blue printed organza dress with a cape accented by a white orchid.

Ushers were Richard Cornelis, brother of the bride and Claude Proulx, friend of the groom.

The reception was held in Legal Community Hall where a large number of relatives and friends gathered to taste the delicious meal.

The table of honour was graced by two large white candles on either side of a lovely four-tiered wedding cake decorated with daisies and wine glass pillars.

Master of ceremonies was the groom's brother Ronald St. Jean. Richard Cornelis presented the toast to the bride. Following the reception everyone had a good time dancing to the music of "Let's Boogie." For their going away outfits, Jennette and Roger chose matching blue and white printed shirts. Jennette wore a white pant suit and Roger a blue leisure suit.

Out of town guests came as far as Seattle, Washington.

Upon their return from their honeymoon the happy couple will make their home in Edson.

Legal water quality said best ever

"It's the best water we've ever had," said Legal Mayor Art Morin this week.

He was commenting on the quality of the water in the village after a water treatment plant got started in Legal last January.

Regarding a rumour that Legal was seeking to fluoridate its water, the mayor suggested that that wasn't necessary.

"There are enough chemicals in the water already," he said.

A community picnic was held on July 15 and Councillor George Grainer drew the winning tickets. First prize was won by Diane Lindgren of Stony Plain and second prize went to J. R. Milligan of Bon Accord.

Tickets are now on sale from all Community Centre Board members for the $100 draw for a 1978 Mustang. Included with the chance on the car are a sumptuous meal and a dance and plenty of liquid refreshment. What better way to support your community and perhaps be the lucky winner of a new car?

There are still no ideas yet in for the coming winter's activities. If you have some activity you would like included, please phone Pauline, 921-3625. If your special activity is not being offered this winter and you didn't call about it, then you have no one but yourself to blame.

A Guide leader and helpers are desperately needed for the coming season. If you are interested in being a leader or a helper, please call Helen Lesyshen, 921-3754 after 6 p.m.

Sharon Bishop will be on hand at Farmers' Market to do any engraving you might require. The price is reasonable and proceeds will be turned over to the Golden Gems senior citizen club.

Rendezvous Club

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rockwell have now joined us in our Wednesday get together since Bill has retired. Hope you both enjoy yourselves with the group. We were happy to see Mr. and Mrs. Henri Ricard after a long absence due to illness.

We owe a very special "Thank you" to Miss Charlene Rousseau and Miss Denise Carrigan who are doing useful and marvelous work supervising our young children during the summer. Since the theme of the week was 'Friendship Week' they brought their group of youngsters over to visit our senior citizens. They presented us with a large Friendship card covered with wise sayings like 'Forgive and Forget.' We all admired it very much then Charlene played her guitar and Denise led the group in the singing of several beautiful songs. We served them a lunch and they left us smiling and happy. This kind gesture was appreciated by all and we hope to see them again sometime. Thank you all.

By Karen Hogg

A very disappointing crowd of people were on hand last Thursday evening to attend the Farmers' Market. It is hoped that this Thursday evening will be a success. Everyone is welcome to sell items at the market.

Garden vegetables, homemade baking, make-up, used or new books, handicrafts and plants are just ideas of what you can sell. Come on, let's make Gibbons Farmers' Market a market to talk about! The market is open every Thursday from 7 to 9. For further details phone Karen Hogg at 973-6924.

Coronado will be holding a rummage sale on August 10 at 1:30 p.m. in the Church Hall. Lunch and coffee will be available.

The Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic will be coming to Gibbons in September. Watch for announcements.

Patricia Briggs is in Iowa on a 4H exchange trip. Pat will be away until July 26. Knowing Pat I am sure she will enjoy herself!

Feeling better wishes extended to Mr. Bill Gibbons who is in the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Clem Boisjoli have motored down to Winnipeg to visit Jerry and Tracy Boisjoli and little granddaughter Daune.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Serink just returned from holidays in Radium and the Okanagan. Mr. and Mrs. Serink were the king cherry pickers of the valley!
